Cordiality Marks Kennedy-Nixon Chat

Changeover, U.S. Foreign Policy Aired

Did Not Discuss Possible New Post For Vice President

KEY BISCAINE, Fla. (AP)—John F. Kennedy paid a perhaps unprecedented call Monday on the man he defeated for the presidency to discuss in an atmosphere of cordiality the great problems of a political transition and world affairs.

Side by side in a villa, with the sound of the surf outside, Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon chatted for 63 minutes. Kennedy said later there was no discussion of a position for the vice president in the new administration.

In separate news conferences afterward, each said the session was cordial and helpful.

It was Kennedy who made the overtures for the meeting with the man whom he fought all over the country in the weeks of rigorous campaigning before Tuesday's election. And it was Kennedy, the winner, who came to see Nixon, the loser, in what the vice president termed "a very gracious act."

"The fact he wanted to come here, I think," Nixon said, "is a very excellent example to the American people and the whole world how our system works."

Personal Differences Buried

While there were deep differences during the campaign, Nixon said, now that the decision is made, the meeting Monday is "notice to all the world there will be no differences we will have in the next four years based on personal considerations."

While there will be opposition to policies with which the Republicans disagree, Nixon said, and the leaders of his party will "provide constructive opposition."

The two men now expect to get together again, probably within the month, in Washington to pick up the talks where they left off Monday on the questions of transition and foreign policy.

Kennedy said, too, that he definitely expects to meet with President Eisenhower before the Jan. 20 inauguration.

This, he said, will be at a time "convenient for the President," perhaps early next month.

There was any reference to the possibility of bringing Republicans into some cabinet or other top spots in a demonstration of bipartisanship? Both Kennedy and Nixon left this up in the air.

Relaxed And Friendly

The vice president said it was up to Kennedy to do any talking on that subject. But the president-elect said he preferred to stand on his own statement that problems of transition, and problems which face this nation around the world, were the subject matter Monday.

The two men appeared completely relaxed and friendly, as they have been through 14 years together in Congress. They once met here previously while vacationing.

Now the two are vacationing in Florida again, Nixon here and Kennedy at the ocean front home of his parents 80 miles to the north at Palm Beach.

The President-elect telephoned Nixon Saturday night and suggested a meeting. Nixon said he offered to go to Palm Beach but Kennedy wanted to come here instead.

The Massachusetts senator flew down in his private plane, rode through Coral Gables and the outskirts of Miami in a style reminiscent of his campaign, and arrived at the Key Biscayne Hotel at 11:35 a.m. Thousands cheered him along the route.

Nixon was waiting for him on the steps, a smile playing across his face, a hand outstretched and a "glad to see you" welcome.

Once at the villa, they went inside alone, with no aides or even

Lumumba Asks U.N.-Directed Congo Election

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba asked the United Nations Monday to supervise a referendum in the Congo as a prelude to election of a new president. He said such a step was necessary to end a reign of terror under his rival, President Joseph Kasavubu.

Lumumba's request came as Pierre Wigny, Belgian foreign minister, threatened withdrawal of his country from the United Nations, and described the U. N. operation in the Congo as a failure.

Wigny made his statements at a news conference called by him to deny U. N. charges that Belgian nationals are trying to stir up trouble in their former African colony.

Wigny said that the report submitted recently by Indian Ambassador Rajeshwar Dayal, U. N. special representative in the Congo, disclosed the failure of the United Nations to restore order in the new African republic.

He asserted Belgium could not be singled out as the villain responsible for the U. N. failure. Dayal had accused Belgian civilians of trying to block U. N. objectives in the Congo.

Wigny added that his government "could not see the way of remaining as a member of the United Nations in the future" if U. N. officials "do not exercise the rules and restrictions imposed upon them as public officers."

Lumumba's position was set forth in a letter to Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, president of the U. N. General Assembly, that contained criticism of the United States.

The Congolese leader charged that a fund of 30 million francs ($600,000), seized recently at Stanleyville from a group plotting to assume power, "came from United States sources."

Liz Taylor's Mysterious Illness Baffles Doctors

LONDON (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor lay in a London hospital Monday night with piercing head pains from a mysterious illness that baffled a team of physicians.

One doctor, Carl Goldman, said the pains may be due to a virus infection or another abscessed tooth. He said he was unable to reach a firm diagnosis.

Husband Eddie Fisher, maintaining an anguished bedside vigil, told movie producer Walter Wanger earlier that the actress was a little better.

But physicians at the exclusive London clinic declined throughout the day to say how she is faring.

Four Lose Lives In Apartment Fire

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—A young woman, her two daughters and a sister perished Monday in a fire which destroyed a three-family flat in Muskegon.

The victims were Mrs. Carrie Lee Collins, 21; her daughters, Jeanette, 2, and Mary Ann, 5 months, and Mrs. Collins' sister, Peggy Ann, 4. The coroner said all were asphyxiated.

About 10 persons were in the two-story frame house at the time. The others escaped without injury.

Soviet Boosts Ruble's Value In World Trade

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union announced Monday night a new heavy ruble, more nearly on a par with the U.S. dollar in international trade, with an increase in the ruble's gold content.

Now a dollar brings 4 rubles at the official rate, or 10 rubles at a special tourist rate. Effective Jan. 1, the Soviet Union decreed, it will take only nine-tenths of a ruble to equal $1.

Officials here were studying the effect of raising the gold content to determine its meaning in relation to the dollar.

An official Soviet government statement broadcast by Moscow Radio announcing the change also said the Soviet State Bank's purchasing price for gold will be established at one ruble per gram from Jan. 1.

The new rate, like the rate it displaces, presumably applies only to international trade.

There was no mention in the announcement of the special tourist rate, which was fixed at 10 rubles to the dollar in 1957.

TV-Radio Network Strike Set Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's major networks are expected to keep television screens glowing, even if the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) goes ahead with a strike threatened for midnight Tuesday.

It was understood the four major TV and radio networks had piled up a backlog of new taped shows to supplement taped reruns of old shows and re-running of movies.

The networks made their plans after AFTRA announced its 15,000 members had voted overwhelmingly in favor of the strike.

Guatemala Puts Down Rebellion, Accuses Cuba

GUATEMALA CITY (UPI)—The government announced Monday "liquidation" of the armed revolt against the regime of President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes and accused Cuba of complicity in the uprising.

The president himself announced the end of organized hostilities and ordered the air force to cease bombing rebel positions. He said there still was some "dispersed" rebel activity but it was unimportant.

At the same time, Foreign Minister Jesus Unda Morales said Guatemala would file immediate charges against Cuba before the Organization of American States (OAS).

Unda Morales said orders taken from captured rebels included plans to seize the military airport at Puerto Barrios, on Guatemala's Atlantic coast, to enable Cuban aircraft to disembark reinforcements and supplies.

The plan presumably failed when the Guatemalan air force destroyed the military airport by bombing Sunday night.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Inter-American Peace Committee agreed Monday night during an emergency session to consider Guatemala's charges that Cuba's Fidel Castro regime inspired the armed revolt in Guatemala.

It acted in response to a Guatemalan plea to the Organization of American States (OAS) to take "drastic action" to prevent what it called further Communist agitation in that country.

In a telegram to OAS Secretary General Jose A. Mora, Guatemala charged that "the rebels operate with the help of the Communist government of Fidel Castro."

Eisenhower, Treasury Chief To Meet Today

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower interrupts his golfing vacation Tuesday for what is described as an important foreign aid conference with Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson.

Eisenhower was expected to speak out afterward about the urgent need for wealthy Western countries, such as West Germany, to pay more of the cost of helping new nations.

The President called Anderson to his secluded Georgia retreat in an apparent move to give forceful White House backing to Anderson's imminent visit to Bonn for financial talks with West German leaders.

Later, the White House announced that Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates might come with Anderson for the conference. The Defense Department is reported to have reviewed steps to reduce spending by U.S. armed forces in West Germany.

152 Children Die In Syrian Theater Fire

40 Youths Survive; Wooden Building Burns For Hours

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A roaring fire set off by a movie projection room explosion killed 152 school children at a special showing of an educational film Sunday night in the town of Amude, officials said Monday.

It was described as Syria's worst fire disaster in memory. Nearly every family in Amude, on the Turkish border 400 miles northeast of Damascus, lost a child in the blaze.

The fire swept the wooden theater building and burned on for hours.

About 20 youths, screaming in agony from burns, fought their way outside. Firefighting units that rushed to the scene from neighboring towns rescued 20 others.

Government officials were flown to the area along with a plenitude of medical aid and a team of doctors and surgeons.

The victims were buried in a mass funeral Monday afternoon.

The United Arab Republic's Syrian Executive Council said the disaster is a "tragedy for every home throughout the U.A.R."

The council announced nearly $53 million has been earmarked for a relief operation in Amude.

FAA Claims Grid Plane Was Unsafe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency said Monday the C46 airplane which crashed Oct. 29 killing 16 California Polytechnic College football players and six other persons was overloaded and was not in airworthy condition. The crash was at Toledo, Ohio, airport.

The FAA filed a complaint with the Civil Aeronautics Board against Arctic-Pacific Inc., the Oakland, Calif., supplemental airline operating the twin-engine plane also charging that:

1. The engines were of the military surplus type, not modified for commercial use as required by civil regulations.

2. The engines had not been properly inspected or maintained.

3. The flight took off in weather conditions far below the minimums permitted under instrument flying rules for C46 aircraft.

4. The pilots — Capt. Donald L. J. Chesher and First Officer Harold Perovich, both killed in the accident—had been on duty the two previous days, Oct. 27 and 28, in excess of the maximum hours permitted by the regulations.

5. The airline had notified FAA Oct. 27 that it had discharged Chesher.

The FAA recalled that it revoked Chesher's pilot license last July for violating regulations.

Chesher appealed to the CAB, and an examiner conducted a hearing at San Francisco Aug. 23. The CAB has not acted on Chesher's appeal.

He said the sole question before the Supreme Court was whether the Negroes were entitled to an opportunity to prove in court that they are being denied rights protected by the 15th Amendment. This provides that no state may discriminate in voting because of race, color or creed.

But the court said the allegations, if proved, "would abundantly establish that Act 140 was not an ordinary geographic redistricting measure even within familiar abuses of gerrymandering."

In addition to the admiral and his wife the plane carried three crewmen and one officer who was not a member of the crew. The Navy corrected its first report that there were two non-crew officers aboard.

The plane disappeared in good weather after taking off at 11:35 p.m. (10:35 a.m. EST Monday).

A search was ordered when it failed to arrive on what is ordinarily only a 25-minute flight. Shortly after dawn search pilots sighted wreckage 50 miles west of Manila but it was several hours before they were certain it was the Albatross. Planes from the air station at Cebu and helicopters from the aircraft carrier U. S. S. Hornet took part in the search.

Rescue teams parachuted to the scene this morning reported there were no survivors.

Boundary Shift To Block Negro Voters Unlawful

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled unanimously Monday that it is unlawful to change a city's boundaries to get rid of Negro voters.

This means Negroes will have a chance to prove in court their claim that the Alabama legislature in 1957 redefined Tuskegee's boundaries to prevent them from gaining political control of the city.

The gerrymandering of Tuskegee's boundaries removed from the city all but four or five of Tuskegee's Negro voters but affected no white residents. Tuskegee, which had been square in shape, became a 28-sided figure which Negroes described as resembling a sea dragon.

Before the redrawing of the boundaries, Tuskegee had 5,397 Negro inhabitants and 1,310 whites. Of the qualified voters, approximately 600 were white, 400 Negro.

Justice Felix Frankfurter, who spoke for the court, stressed at this stage of the litigation the truth of the Negroes' allegations that the 1957 Alabama law, known as Act 140, was a device to disenfranchise them in municipal elections.

He said the sole question before the Supreme Court was whether the Negroes were entitled to an opportunity to prove in court that they are being denied rights protected by the 15th Amendment. This provides that no state may discriminate in voting because of race, color or creed.

But the court said the allegations, if proved, "would abundantly establish that Act 140 was not an ordinary geographic redistricting measure even within familiar abuses of gerrymandering."

White Crowds Jeer But Offer No Violence

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Four Negro girls broke the color barrier of the Deep South's largest city Monday, marching into two white schools escorted by U.S. marshals.

The two races have not been mixed in Louisiana elementary and secondary schools since reconstruction days after the Civil War.

Physical resistance to actual integration did not develop despite a gathering of 75 state policemen working for the state legislature.

Nor was there violence among the racially mixed crowds of spectators. Cheers from watching Negroes echoed jeers and boos from whites.

"They ought to take Judge (U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly) Wright and hang him by his toes," yelled one woman at William Frantz Elementary School. She yelled it again and again. It was Wright who issued the desegregation order last May.

When three cars containing three Negro first graders pulled up to McDonogh No. 19 school, a white woman screamed: "I'm going in there and get my children (sic) out. I'm no nigger lover."

Emerges With One Child She strode into the three-story, gray stucco building and came out holding her (one) child by the hand. White spectators cheered.

One Negro girl, wearing a white dress and with white ribbons in her hair, drew boos at the Frantz school.

"The niggers are going to take over. They're going to run us all out of here," one spectator yelled.

William Frantz is located in a workingman's neighborhood in east New Orleans. McDonogh No. 19 is located on a busy avenue in the center of the city.

City police blocked off a two block area around Frantz. The city's police superintendent, Joseph Giarrusso, said police were there strictly to preserve order.

The three Negro girls left McDonogh at 2:45 p.m., picked up in three cars by federal marshals.

"You better not come back tomorrow," someone in the crowd yelled as the cars pulled away.

Enrollment Dips The one Negro girl at the Frantz School left promptly at 2:03 p.m., in a car driven by a federal marshal.

"Go home, nigger," came a yell from the crowd, but there was no other incident or demonstration from the crowd lining the sidewalks.

School Board President Lloyd Rittiner told newsmen he believed "the worst is over" and the lack of any "appreciable amount of demonstrations indicates the people of New Orleans are going to accept the inevitable."

School Supt. James Redmond said the attendance at McDonogh 19—which has a normal enrollment of 467—was 94 at 8:30 a.m. and dipped to 40 at 1:20 p.m. At Frantz—its normal enrollment 576—attendance at school's opening was 105 and dropped to 50 at 1:20 p.m.

As to those who skipped school Monday, Redmond said, or who were withdrawn, they will be treated as truants and "we'll figure out what to do about that tomorrow."

In addition to the admiral and his wife the plane carried three crewmen and one officer who was not a member of the crew. The Navy corrected its first report that there were two non-crew officers aboard.

The plane disappeared in good weather after taking off at 11:35 p.m. (10:35 a.m. EST Monday).

A search was ordered when it failed to arrive on what is ordinarily only a 25-minute flight. Shortly after dawn search pilots sighted wreckage 50 miles west of Manila but it was several hours before they were certain it was the Albatross. Discoverer Cargo Caught On 31st Pass

AF Hails Operation As Most Successful In Satellite Series

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An Air Force plane, swooping over the Pacific, Monday made history's second aerial catch of a capsule kicked from an orbiting satellite.

A big C119 Flying Box Car, dubbed Pelican II and piloted by Capt. Gene W. Jones, of New York, snatched the parachute of an instrument package from Discoverer XVII — a sophisticated new moonlet expected to become a work-horse in various United States satellite programs.

The gold-plated, 300-pound capsule was ejected on the 31st orbital pass, a little more than two days after its rocket was launched at this West Coast space base. Reverse rockets slowed it, then its parachute blossomed and it floated down over the ocean near Hawaii.

The plane crew spotted it 10 minutes later, snatched it with a trapeze-like device, and headed for Hawaii.

AF Hails Achievement

The Air Force said: "From first orbit acquisition through re-entry and recovery this has been our most successful operation in the Discoverer series."

Thus, on only the second try, the Air Force scored a success with its new model satellite, Agena B, Try Number 1, with Discoverer XVI, failed when the shot failed to achieve orbit. With the old model, Agena A, there were 12 failures before the first success.

Discoverer XVII was launched from here at 12:42 p.m. Saturday. Its radio signals were had on its first trip around the earth's poles but later improved and were still clear Monday.

The signal for capsule ejection, from a tracking station in Alaska, was delayed 24 hours to enable the satellite to gather more information.

Sun Activity Recorded

Maj. Gen. O. J. Ritland, commander of the Air Force's Ballistic Missile Division in Inglewood, Calif., said Monday night the capsule carried instruments to record sun spot activity in space. He said the satellite was circling the earth during an intense period of sun spot activity and may produce remarkable data on the aurora borealis.

It is also known that satellites of this type, called Agena B to show an advance over earlier Agena A models, were designed to test spy gear for future launchings in the Samos and Midas series.

Samos satellites will contain cameras and television equipment, capable of photographing potential military targets as the polar-orbiting vehicles whiz over Russian territory several times each day. Midas satellites will contain infrared (heat-sensitive) devices able to warn the United States of missile launchings anywhere in the world.

14 Nicaraguan Rebels Give Up, Free Hostages

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)—Fourteen rebels surrendered to government troops at nearby Diriamba Monday and released unarmed 250 school children they had held hostage since last Friday.

The surrender of the insurgent band was arranged by the archbishop-coadjutor of Managua, the Rev. Carlos Borge, the government and a fair trial but rejected their demand for a safe-conduct out of the country.

The rebels had stormed the Christian Brothers school on Diriamba's outskirts at midnight Friday after being driven out of the Army post they seized in the town earlier in the day. They used the school children and two captured national guard officers, Col. Rodolfo Dorn and Capt. Bernardino Mendieta, as hostages while under siege.

The government forces allowed food and water to pass through their lines during the 60-hour siege to assure the comfort of the children. The rebels had allowed Father Borge and delegations of parents to enter the besieged building for negotiations.

The surrender ended the surprise weekend revolt movement against the regime of President Luis A. Aomoza.

The fire swept the wooden theater building and burned on for hours.

About 20 youths, screaming in agony from burns, fought their way outside. Firefighting units that rushed to the scene from neighboring towns rescued 20 others.

Government officials were flown to the area along with a plane load of medical aid and a team of doctors and surgeons.

The victims were buried in a mass funeral Monday afternoon. The United Arab Republic's Syrian Executive Council said the disaster is a "tragedy for every home throughout the U.A.R."

The council announced nearly $53 million has been earmarked for a relief operation in Amude.

FAA Claims Grid Plane Was Unsafe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency said Monday the C46 airplane which crashed Oct. 29 killing 16 California Polytechnic College football players and six other persons was overloaded and was not in airworthy condition. The crash was at Toledo, Ohio, airport.

The FAA filed a complaint with the Civil Aeronautics Board against Arctic-Pacific Inc., the Oakland, Calif., supplemental airline operating the twin-engine plane also charging that:

1. The engines were of the military surplus type, not modified for commercial use as required by civil air regulations.

2. The engines had not been properly inspected or maintained.

3. The flight took off in weather conditions far below the minimums permitted under instrument flying rules for C46 aircraft.

4. The pilots—Capt. Donald L. J. Chesher and First Officer Harold Perovich, both killed in the accident—had been on duty the two previous days, Oct. 27 and 28, in excess of the maximum hours permitted by the regulations.

5. The airline had notified FAA Oct. 27 that it had discharged Chesher.

The FAA recalled that it revoked Chesher's pilot license last July for violating regulations.

Chesher appealed to the CAB, and an examiner conducted a hearing at San Francisco Aug. 23. The CAB has not acted on Chesher's appeal.

Eisenhower, Treasury Chief To Meet Today

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower interrupts his golfing vacation Tuesday for what is described as an important foreign aid conference with Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson.

Eisenhower was expected to speak out afterward about the urgent need for wealthy Western countries, such as West Germany, to pay more of the cost of helping new nations.

The President called Anderson to his secluded Georgia retreat in an apparent move to give forceful White House backing to Anderson's imminent visit to Bonn for financial talks with West German leaders.

Later, the White House announced that Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates might come with Anderson for the conference. The Defense Department is reported to have reviewed steps to reduce spending by U.S. armed forces in West Germany.

Boundary Shift To Block Negro Voters Unlawful

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled unanimously Monday that it is unlawful to change a city's boundaries to get rid of Negro voters.

This means Negroes will have a chance to prove in court their claim that the Alabama legislature in 1957 redefined Tuskegee's boundaries to prevent them from gaining political control of the city.

The gerrymandering of Tuskegee's boundaries removed from the city all but four or five of Tuskegee's Negro voters but affected no white residents. Tuskegee, which had been square in shape, became a 28-sided figure which Negroes described as resembling a sea dragon.

Before the redrawing of the boundaries, Tuskegee had 5,397 Negro inhabitants and 1,310 whites. Of the qualified voters, approximately 600 were white, 400 Negro.

Justice Felix Frankfurter, who spoke for the court, stressed at this stage of the litigation the court is not concerned with the truth of the Negroes' allegations that the 1957 Alabama law, known as Act 140, was a device to disenfranchise them in municipal elections.

He said the sole question before the Supreme Court was whether the Negroes were entitled to an opportunity to prove in court that they are being denied rights protected by the 15th Amendment. This provides that no state may discriminate in voting because of race, color or creed.

But the court said the allegations, if proved, "would abundantly establish that Act 140 was not an ordinary geographic redistricting measure even within familiar abuses of gerrymandering."

Adm. Spring, Wife, Four Others Die In Air Crash

MANILA, Tuesday (UPI)—Rear Adm. Arthur F. Spring, commander of U.S. Navy forces in the Philippines, his wife and four other Navy men were killed when their plane crashed into the jungle-covered slopes of Mariaves Mountain, the Navy announced today.

They were aboard a Navy Albatross that crashed about 50 miles west of here after taking off shortly before midnight on a flight from Nichols Air Force Base near Manila to the U.S. naval air station at Cubi Point 50 miles northwest of Manila.

Rescue teams parachuted to the scene this morning reported there were no survivors.

White Crowds Jeer But Offer No Violence

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Four Negro girls broke the color barrier of the Deep South's largest city Monday, marching into two white schools escorted by U.S. marshals.

The two races have not been mixed in Louisiana elementary and secondary schools since reconstruction days after the Civil War.

Physical resistance to actual integration did not develop despite a gathering of 75 state policemen working for the state legislature.

Nor was there violence among the racially mixed crowds of spectators. Cheers from watching Negroes echoed jeers and boos from whites.

"They ought to take Judge (U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly) Wright and hang him by his toes," yelled one woman at William Frantz Elementary School. She yelled it again and again. It was Wright who issued the desegregation order last May.

When three cars containing three Negro first graders pulled up to McDonogh No. 19 school, a white woman screamed: "I'm going in there and get my children (sic) out. I'm no nigger lover."

She strode into the three-story, gray stucco building and came out holding her (one) child by the hand. White spectators cheered.

One Negro girl, wearing a white dress and with white ribbons in her hair, drew boos at the Frantz school.

"The niggers are going to take over. They're going to run us all out of here," one spectator yelled.

William Frantz is located in a workingman's neighborhood in east New Orleans. McDonogh No. 19 is located on a busy avenue in the center of the city.

City police blocked off a two-block area around Frantz. The city's police superintendent, Joseph Giarrusso, said police were there strictly to preserve order.

The three Negro girls left McDonogh at 2:45 p.m., picked up in three cars by federal marshals. "You better not come back tomorrow," someone in the crowd yelled as the cars pulled away.

The one Negro girl at the Frantz School left promptly at 2:05 p.m. in a car driven by a federal marshal.

"Go home, nigger," came a yell from the crowd, but there was no other incident or demonstration from the crowd lining the sidewalks.

School Board President Lloyd Rittner told newsmen he believed "the worst is over" and the lack of any "appreciable amount of demonstrations indicates the people of New Orleans are going to accept the inevitable."

School Supt. James Redmond said the attendance at McDonogh 19—which has a normal enrollment of 467—was 94 at 8:30 a.m. and dipped to 40 at 1:20 p.m. Frantz's normal enrollment 576—attendance at school's opening was 105 and dropped to 50 at 1:20 p.m.

As to those who skipped school Monday, Redmond said, or who were withdrawn, they will be treated as truants and "we'll figure out what to do about that tomorrow."

Discoverer Cargo Caught On 31st Pass

AF Hails Operation As Most Successful In Satellite Series

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—An Air Force plane, swooping over the Pacific, Monday made history's second aerial catch of a capsule kicked from an orbiting satellite.

A big C119 Flying Box Car, dubbed Pelican II and piloted by Capt. Gene W. Jones, of New York, snagged the parachute of an instrument package from Discoverer XVII—a sophisticated new moonlet expected to become a work-horse in various United States satellite programs.

The gold-plated, 300-pound capsule was ejected on the 31st orbital pass, a little more than two days after its rocket was launched at this West Coast space base. Reverse rockets slowed it, then its parachute blossomed and it floated down over the ocean near Hawaii.

The plane crew spotted it 10 minutes later, snatched it with a trapeze-like device, and headed for Hawaii.

AF Hails Achievement

The Air Force said: "From first orbit acquisition through re-entry and recovery this has been our most successful operation in the Discoverer series."

Thus, on only the second try, the Air Force scored a success with its new model satellite, Agena B. Try Number 1, with Discoverer XVI, failed when the shot failed to achieve orbit. With the old model, Agena A, there were 12 failures before the first success.

Discoverer XVII was launched from here at 12:42 p.m. Saturday. Its radio signals were had on its first trip around the earth's poles but later improved and were still clear Monday.

The signal for capsule ejection, from a tracking station in Alaska, was delayed 24 hours to enable the satellite to gather more information.

Sun Activity Recorded

Maj. Gen. O. J. Ritland, commander of the Air Force's Ballistic Missile Division in Inglewood, Calif., said Monday night the capsule carried instruments to record sun spot activity in space. He said the satellite was circling the earth during an intense period of sun spot activity and may produce remarkable data on the aurora borealis.

It is also known that satellites of this type, called Agena B to show an advance over earlier Agena A Models, were designed to test spy gear for future launchings in the Samos and Midas series.

Samos satellites will contain cameras and television equipment, capable of photographing potential military targets as the polar-orbiting vehicles whiz over Russian territory several times each day. Midas satellites will contain infrared (heat-sensitive) devices able to warn the United States of missile launchings anywhere in the world.

Henry Ford II Bids To Take Over Giant British Ford Firm

LONDON (AP)—Henry Ford II, who is working at peak or near peak capacity, certainly has the effect of promising British Ford a takeover offer valued at more than $363 million for the giant British Ford operation.

Ford's parent company in Detroit bid a straight $20.50 for each of 17,726,804 common shares held by around 18,000 Britons.

The formal American offer explained the intention was to take over the entire ordinary stock of the British enterprise in which the parent company already holds a 54.6 per cent interest.

The British auto industry is currently suffering from a siege of short time working and cut production schedules.

Government-imposed credit restrictions—introduced as an anti-inflationary check—have cut purchasing power and reduced consumer demands.

Ford alone among Britain's five leading auto manufacturers has been able to maintain a 40-hour work week on all assembly lines.

The massive American intervention seemed to signal an at-

Kennedy Action On Population Planning Urged

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy was urged Monday to support government aid in population planning to foreign countries which request it.

Gen. William H. Draper Jr., chairman of President Eisenhower's committee to study the U. S. military assistance program, said that unless the new administration takes early steps on the matter, "it may soon be too late."

The question has touchy religious overtones, because of Roman Catholic opposition to artificial birth control.

Draper, in a speech to the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, urged action by the incoming administration to implement his committee's recommendations to deal with the world "population explosion."

"Our recommendations, very simply, were to give help in population planning to those countries which asked our help, and to encourage additional research in this field for the benefit of all nations," he said.

He also called on Kennedy, who is a Roman Catholic, to follow up on a campaign statement that specialists should be consulted on whether private agencies are now providing adequate research in family planning.

Draper said the problem of world overpopulation "is so large and so urgent that the time has come for our government to lend a hand." He said soaring population was keeping underdeveloped lands in poverty, and soon would cripple living standards in industrial nations.

President Eisenhower has stated he didn't consider birth control a "proper political or governmental activity, function or responsibility." If other countries want help, he has said, they should go to private groups.

"It is my guess," Draper asserted, "that because of the religious and political implications, Mr. Eisenhower wanted to take this issue out of the recent political campaign."

"But now the election speeches are over."

Mobutu Plans Show Of Congo Strength

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo capital (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu, bent on maintaining his strong man role despite United Nations pressure, has announced a giant parade of his Congolese army for Thursday.

The army chief's decision Monday to make a show of military strength sent worried U.N. officials into a huddle to decide whether U.N. soldiers should take part in the parade.

They feared trouble in this tense city, where there had been blood between the Congolese army and the Leopoldville police, who support Mobutu's arch foe, leftist ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Secret Service men present. Once the conference ended, the vice president escorted Kennedy back to the temporary newsroom set up in the hotel.

Kennedy started out on Nixon's left and the vice president quickly circled in back to get on the other side.

"You've got to get used to walking on the right side," Nixon derided and taken to the county jail. "The higher ranking person usually walks on the right."

This was a far more amiable scene than was the one afforded in the campaign, when the two rivals were practically accusing one another of outright lying in their television debates. And in long-distance oratorical duels they hurled all sorts of charges at each other for an 11 per cent increase in trade between the two countries.

Canvass Trims Kennedy's Md. Edge To 76,932

BALTIMORE (AP)—An official canvass of election returns in 19 Maryland counties has cut President-elect John F. Kennedy's winning margin in the state by 1,911 votes from the unofficial totals.

But Vice President Richard Nixon's gain in the canvass so far is only a drop in the bucket of ballots by which Kennedy captured Maryland's nine electoral votes.

Using official figures for all but four counties and Baltimore City, Kennedy leads Nixon by 76,932. The totals are 561,709 to 434,777.

The canvass of votes and counting of absentee ballots is still under way in Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, Montgomery, Frederick and Queen Annes counties.

In the 19 counties reporting official returns, Nixon had 265,323 votes, or a gain of 3,412 over his unofficial total before absentee ballots were counted.

Kennedy's total in the 19 counties checked is 255,661 or a gain of 1,501 over the preliminary figures.

Nixon led Kennedy by some 10,000 votes in the counties canvassed so far, but still to be canvassed is Baltimore City where Kennedy swamped his Republican opponent by more than 88,000 votes in the unofficial count.

Nixon's biggest gain in the canvass was in Baltimore County, where he increased his slim winning margin over Kennedy by 1,000 votes. The totals there were 96,027 to 94,036.

The canvass and counting of absentee ballots so far has made no significant changes in the winning margins of Maryland's seven congressmen and the 16 referenda approved by the voters.

Former Washington Attorney Slain By Son

PORT TOBACCO, Md. (AP)—S. Albert Mickler, 54, former Washington attorney, was shot and killed Monday by a son, Christopher, 16, Charles County Sheriff Francis E. Garner said.

Sheriff's deputies said the son called three private physicians after he had shot his father with a 410 gauge shotgun. Unable to reach any of the three, the young man summoned the rescue squad at La Plata.

Garner said the boy told him he had fired the fatal shot. "I guess I'm just mad at the whole world," the sheriff quoted the boy as saying.

The boy was charged with murdering on the right side. Nixon derided and taken to the county jail. "The higher ranking person usually walks on the right."

This was a far more amiable scene than was the one afforded in the campaign, when the two rivals were practically accusing one another of outright lying in their television debates. Baltimore Rights Hearing Slated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Commission on Civil Rights plans to study Baltimore's desegregation pattern over the past 10 years, it was announced Monday. Gordon M. Tiffany, the commission's staff director, said the commission will hold a hearing in the Maryland city some time in January.

The hearing will deal with public employment, housing, the administration of justice, and public education. Tiffany said the purposes are: 1. To establish facts of discrimination, if they exist, in Baltimore. 2. To study and appraise measures applied by the federal, state and local governments in the area of civil rights. The past decade, he said, has seen Baltimore in a period of transition from segregation to desegregation, with discriminatory policies ending in many areas of education, recreation, housing, public accommodations, and public employment. "The commission wants to see how effective the application of these policies has been."

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — The jet age has increased revenue at Baltimore's Friendship International Airport in more ways than just by passenger traffic. Receipts from the 10-cent-a-person turnstiles at the airport's observation deck already have passed the $20,000 for 1960, about even with total collections for all of 1959 and three times above the 1958 total.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Shriners have dedicated their new Bountiful Shrine Temple here, with more than 2,000 persons on hand for the weekend ceremonies opening the $1.5 million mosque.

National Masonic leaders were among those who attended the dedication of the one-story, U-shaped structure which includes a 1,000-seat banquet hall.

BALTIMORE (AP) — William J. Reynolds Jr., a 25-year-old baker, has been charged by police with the $3,000 safe burglary of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer here last March.

The money disappeared from an unlocked safe near the church's altar after regular Sunday services. The theft was discovered about 45 minutes after the money, from church collections, had been deposited in the safe.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Two meetings of Maryland Baptist groups opened here Monday, with Dr. Albert McClellan, program and planning secretary of the Southern Baptist pastors and laymen and the three-day sessions of the Maryland Baptist Union Association. The theme of the association meeting is "unto a full grown Christian."

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy was reported in critical condition Monday from injuries suffered when his bicycle swerved into an automobile on U.S. 1, north of here near Hickory.

The victim, Charles E. Cullum of R.D. 2, Bel Air, was under treatment at Harford Memorial Hospital at Havre de Grace for head, chest and leg injuries. He collided with the car Saturday night.

EASTON, Md. (AP) — The body of Charles William Kleppinger Sr., a Talbot county businessman, was recovered Monday from Broad Creek, near Deep Neck Point, south of St. Michaels.

The body of Kleppinger, president and owner of Delmarva Narrow Fabrics, Inc., was recovered by Hilton C. Carmichael, who was assisting in the search with his boat, "C-Mon."

Kleppinger was lost overboard from his 26-foot cabin cruiser Sunday night. State Police, agents of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission and volunteers conducted the search.

GLEN BURNIE, Md. (AP) — Anne Arundel County police Monday were investigating the rape of an eight-year-old girl who reported she was attacked Sunday at the home of a neighbor.

Police held the neighbor for questioning. They quoted the man as saying he had been drinking and could not remember what happened. Dr. Gustave H. Faubert, county medical examiner, said an examination showed the girl had been raped.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services have been scheduled Tuesday for George L. Davis, 89, of Baltimore, oldest member of the Maryland Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America. Davis, a telephone line repairman for more than 31 years until his retirement in 1935, died Friday in Union Memorial Hospital after a three-year illness.

Silva Quoted As Saying He Had Slain Wife

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — An employee at a motel near Salisbury testified Monday that 37-year-old Walter William Silva entered the motel office early last Feb. 14 and announced that he had killed his wife.

This testimony came from Robert S. Woosch, one of the first witnesses to take the stand at the start of Silva's trial in Dorchester County Circuit Court.

Silva, a former rubber plant worker at Hayward, Calif., surrendered to police a few hours after the slaying. He was indicted for murder by a Wicomico County grand jury March 17 and entered a plea of innocent.

The trial was shifted here from Salisbury at the request of Silva's defense attorney, Hamilton P. Fox Jr., who contended Silva could not get a fair trial in Wicomico County.

After a jury was selected, Wicomico County State's Atty. Alfred Truitt, in his opening statement, said Silva and his wife, Kathryn Joyce Silva, 23, had lived together in California until August 1959, when she returned to Salisbury, her hometown.

Truitt said he intended to show that Silva came to Salisbury and took a room in a motel near town on Feb. 13, a few hours before the slaying. The prosecutor said testimony would show that Silva called his wife to the motel that evening and that Silva called State Police early the next morning and said he had killed his wife.

Truitt opened his case by calling Dr. Earl Royer, Wicomico County medical examiner, who testified that Mrs. Silva died from asphyxia due to strangulation.

Negro Youth Charged With Stab Slaying

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 19-year-old Negro youth was charged Monday with the fatal stabbing of 56-year-old Curtis Goldfarb, an East Baltimore candy store proprietor.

Curtis Jenkins was one of four persons arrested by police Saturday a few hours after Goldfarb's body was found in the rear of the store he operated on East Preston Street. Goldfarb lived in an apartment above the store.

The other three suspects, two brothers and Jenkins' father, were questioned and released by police Saturday.

Police were led to Jenkins' home by a trail of blood which originated at the store, about a block away.

Employee Of Paint Firm Fatally Stricken

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Marks Jr., 29, an employee of the Glidden Paint Co. at Hawkins Point, was found unconscious Monday in the digestion building of the firm and was dead on arrival at South Baltimore General Hospital.

Police said Marks, a Negro, might have been overcome by fumes from a solution of water and sodium sulfide near which he was lying when discovered.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONOID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONOID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONOID's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONOID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon. COLONOID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONOID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONOID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Baltimore Rights Hearing Slated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Commission on Civil Rights plans to study Baltimore's desegregation pattern over the past 10 years, it was announced Monday. Gordon M. Tiffany, the commission's staff director, said the commission will hold a hearing in Baltimore some time in January.

The hearing will deal with public employment, housing, the administration of justice, and public education.

Tiffany said the purposes are: 1. To establish facts of discrimination, if they exist, in Baltimore. 2. To study and appraise measures applied by the federal, state and local governments in the area of civil rights.

The past decade, he said, has seen Baltimore in a period of transition from segregation to desegregation, with discriminatory policies ending in many areas of education, recreation, housing, public accommodations, and public employment.

"The commission wants to see how effective the application of these policies has been."

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — The jet age has increased revenue at Baltimore's Friendship International Airport in more ways than just by passenger traffic.

Receipts from the 10-cent-a-person turnstiles at the airport's observation deck already have passed the $20,000 for 1960, about even with total collections for all of 1959 and three times above the 1958 total.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Shriners have dedicated their new Bourni Shrine Temple here, with more than 2,000 persons on hand for the weekend ceremonies opening the $1.5 million mosque.

National Masonic leaders were among those who attended the dedication of the one-story, U-shaped structure which includes a 1,000-seat banquet hall.

BALTIMORE (AP) — William J. Reynolds Jr., a 25-year-old baker, has been charged by police with the $3,000 safe burglary of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer here last March.

The money disappeared from an unlocked safe near the church's altar after regular Sunday services. The theft was discovered about 45 minutes after the money, from church collections, had been deposited in the safe.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Two meetings of Maryland Baptist groups opened here Monday, with Dr. Albert McClellan, program and planning secretary of the Southern Baptist pastors and laymen and the three-day sessions of the Maryland Baptist Union Association. The theme of the association meeting is "unto a full grown Christian."

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy was reported in critical condition Monday from injuries suffered when his bicycle swerved into an automobile on U.S. 1, north of here near Hickory.

The victim, Charles E. Cullum of R.D. 2, Bel Air, was under treatment at Harford Memorial Hospital at Havre de Grace for head, chest and leg injuries. He collided with the car Saturday night.

EASTON, Md. (AP) — The body of Charles William Kleppinger Sr., a Talbot county businessman, was recovered Monday from Broad Creek, near Deep Neck Point, south of St. Michaels.

The body of Kleppinger, president and owner of Delmarva Narrow Fabrics, Inc., was recovered by Hilton C. Carmichael, who was assisting in the search with his boat, "C-Mon."

Kleppinger was lost overboard from his 26-foot cabin cruiser Sunday night. State Police, agents of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission and volunteers conducted the search.

GLEN BURNIE, Md. (AP) — Anne Arundel County police Monday were investigating the rape of an eight-year-old girl who reported she was attacked Sunday at the home of a neighbor.

Police held the neighbor for questioning. They quoted the man as saying he had been drinking and could not remember what happened. Dr. Gustave H. Faubert, county medical examiner, said an examination showed the girl had been raped.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Funeral services have been scheduled Tuesday for George L. Davis, 89, of Baltimore, oldest member of the Maryland Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America. Davis, a telephone line repairman for more than 31 years until his retirement in 1935, died Friday in Union Memorial Hospital after a three-year illness.

More trucks are sold in Texas than in any other state, California ranks second in this department.

Silva Quoted As Saying He Had Slain Wife

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — An employee at a motel near Salisbury testified Monday that 37-year-old Walter William Silva entered the motel office early last Feb. 14 and announced that he had killed his wife.

This testimony came from Robert S. Woosch, one of the first witnesses to take the stand at the start of Silva's trial in Dorchester County Circuit Court.

Silva, a former rubber plant worker at Hayward, Calif., surrendered to police a few hours after the slaying. He was indicted for murder by a Wicomico County grand jury March 17 and entered a plea of innocent.

The trial was shifted here from Salisbury at the request of Silva's defense attorney, Hamilton P. Fox Jr., who contended Silva could not get a fair trial in Wicomico County.

After a jury was selected, Wicomico County State's Atty. Alfred Truitt, in his opening statement, said Silva and his wife, Kathryn Joyce Silva, 23, had lived together in California until August 1959, when she returned to Salisbury, her hometown.

Truitt said he intended to show that Silva came to Salisbury and took a room in a motel near town on Feb. 13, a few hours before the slaying. The prosecutor said testimony would show that Silva called his wife to the motel that evening and that Silva called State Police early the next morning and said he had killed his wife.

Truitt opened his case by calling Dr. Earl Royer, Wicomico County medical examiner, who testified that Mrs. Silva died from asphyxia due to strangulation.

Negro Youth Charged With Stab Slaying

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 19-year-old Negro youth was charged Monday with the fatal stabbing of 36-year-old Curtis Goldfarb, an East Baltimore candy store proprietor.

Curtis Jenkins was one of four persons arrested by police Saturday a few hours after Goldfarb's body was found in the rear of the store he operated on East Preston Street. Goldfarb lived in an apartment above the store.

The other three suspects, two brothers and Jenkins' father, were questioned and released by police Saturday.

Police were led to Jenkins' home by a trail of blood which originated at the store, about a block away.

Employee Of Paint Firm Fatally Stricken

BALTIMORE (AP) — John Marks Jr., 29, an employee of the Glidden Paint Co. at Hawkins Point was found unconscious Monday in the digestion building of the firm and was dead on arrival at South Baltimore General Hospital.

Police said Marks, a Negro, might have been overcome by fumes from a solution of water and sodium sulfide near which he was lying when discovered.

Twiggstown Club Has Program

The Twiggstown Homemakers Club met at the home of Mrs. Ronald Baker, Williams Road, November 2 at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Helen Wilson, president, opened the meeting with a song, "We Gather Together." Roll call was answered with the members' favorite pictures.

Mrs. Bernadette Hinkle gave a demonstration on grouping and hanging of pictures, based on a bulletin written by Vivian L. Curmatt, home furnishings specialist for the University of Maryland extension service.

Hazel Bottenfield, chairman of the nominating committee, gave a report. Mrs. Walter Stafford was nominated for vice president, and Mrs. Betty Sluder, secretary.

Mrs. Bernard Baker announced that the Homemakers Chorus will present a pageant, "I Am An American," at East Side School on November 22, and at North-east School November 24.

The meeting closed with a surprise home shower for Mrs. Ronald Baker. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ronald Baker and Mrs. Bernard Baker.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Walter Stafford, Winfield Road, in the form of a Christmas jingle party.

L. Dale Dickerhoof, 1217 Frederick Street, has returned home from Memorial Hospital, where he had been a surgical patient.

WSCS Meets

Woman's Society of Christian Service of Murley's Branch Church met recently at the home of Mrs. Eston Heavner. Mrs. Heavner led devotions on the subject, "Take the Name of Jesus with You." "Tis So Sweet to Trust in Jesus" and "All Hail the Power" were sung by the group. Mrs. Ruth Weicht gave the scripture reading.

Mrs. Homer Willison, Mrs. Richard Yonker, Mrs. Eugene Kismore, Mrs. Francis Yonker, Mrs. Margaret Blubaugh, Mrs. Margaret Fletcher and Mrs. Paul Browning participated in the reading, "Carrying of the World." "Ripples of Charity" was read by Mrs. Eston Heavner; "The Voters Elect," Mrs. Willison; "The Plea for Idleness," Mrs. Ronald Lohr; "The Sacrament of Thanksgiving," Mrs. Fletcher and "What to be Thankful For," Mrs. Browning.

Mrs. Richard Yonker presided at the business session, at which routine matters were transacted. Mrs. Ronald Lohr was welcomed as a new member of the society.

Plans were formulated for the annual Christmas program which will be presented Sunday, December 18 at 7:30 p. m. at the Murley's Branch Church. The December meeting and Christmas party of the society will be held at the home of Mrs. Kismore on a date to be announced later.

The meeting adjourned with the exchange of secret sister gifts and serving of refreshments.

LaVale Club Nominates, Plans Party

The LaVale Homemakers Club yesterday nominated Mrs. Kenneth Drumm for vice president and Mrs. Richard Main for secretary at a meeting at LaVale Fire Hall.

Mrs. Ernest Screen, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the names of the candidates and the report was adopted.

Mrs. Winona Stimler presided at the meeting and led the flag salute. Mrs. Ralph Rice read the collect, and Mrs. Dudley Browne presented the hymn of the month, "We Gather Together." Roll call was answered with "My Favorite Picture," and routine reports were given.

Mrs. John Beckman reported on a food demonstration she gave recently for the Cresapton Homemakers Club on a master mix. Mrs. Screen, Mrs. Stimler and Mrs. Beckman reported on the recent Achievement Day luncheon.

The club then discussed future projects, including a covered dish luncheon at the next meeting, December 12 at noon in the fire hall. Guests will be welcome to the meeting, and members are asked to attend, as there will be a surprise program under direction of Mrs. Brown. Members also are asked to bring jingle gifts for a visit from Santa, and to bring cans of food for baskets to be distributed at Christmas time to needy families.

Unit 1125 Receives Reports

About 170,000 members of the Veterans of World War I attended the national convention in Miami last month. Mrs. Rosalie Everstine told the local Ladies Auxiliary 1125 in a report at the organization's recent meeting.

Mrs. Everstine, who attended the convention, said membership of the national organization has grown greatly in the past year. Next year's convention will be held in Houston, Texas.

Mrs. Ina Smith presided at the meeting, and Mrs. Catherine Wilson led the flag salute to open the meeting. Mrs. Mary Abbott was received as a new member, and a prize presented to Mrs. Josephine Shonski.

Mrs. Chloe Reynolds announced that the next hospital trip will be a Christmas party on November 27. She asked that members donate cookies.

Mrs. Reynolds also reported on tag day, which was held October 27. Gifts for work on the project were presented by Mrs. Everstine and Mrs. Smith to Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Myrtle Brode and Mrs. Regina Koegel. Mrs. Reynolds also presented a birthday cake to Mrs. Smith as a gift from some of the members.

The auxiliary also observed the third anniversary of the local post. Thomas K. Whalley served a pink and white birthday cake and the auxiliary members sang "Happy Birthday," and served refreshments. Tables were decorated with fall flowers, leaves and turkeys. Mrs. Catherine Wilson was in charge of decorations, assisted by Mrs. Daisy Buskey, Mrs. Shonski, Mrs. Aletha Thompson, Mrs. Edith Castleman, Mrs. Everstine, Mrs. Irene Greise, Mrs. Brode and Mrs. Reynolds.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party December 14.

Miltenberger Sisters To Mark Silver Jubilees

Two daughters of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wolfe Miltenberger of Ridgeley and the late George Miltenberger will celebrate their silver jubilees in the Ursuline Nuns with a solemn high mass Thanksgiving Day at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

They are Sister Rosaire, the former Isabelle Miltenberger, and Sister Hermia, the former Edith Miltenberger. Sister Rosaire is stationed in Pittsburgh and Sister Hermia is in Louisville, Ky.

The solemn high mass will be sung at 9:30 a. m. Thursday, November 24 by their brother, Rev. Stanley Miltenberger, O.F.M. Cap. Msgr. Louis Miltenberger of Washington, a cousin, will be deacon, and Rev. Marius Elsener, O.F.M. Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul, will be subdeacon.

A breakfast for the immediate family will be held after mass, and a reception for all relatives and friends will be held from 2 to 4 p. m. in the church hall.

Both nuns attended SS. Peter and Paul Parochial School.

Secrets Of Charm

Cardinal Rules For Charming Conversation

Can you name some of the cardinal rules of tact which should always be observed in conversation?

Steering clear of unpleasant or highly emotional subjects is a paramount rule. Tactful conversation is a friendly art; only the objective and well-informed thinker should tackle such highly emotional and prejudice-charged subjects as religion or politics, and then only when he is sure of the feelings and tendencies of those present.

Always be respectful of another's opinion. No matter how wrong you think someone may be, never show your disregard for his belief by a sharp retort, tone of voice or sarcasm. If you can't discuss without arguing, change the subject—pleasantly.

Perhaps the biggest boner in conversation is the flat, "You are wrong!" That is the tactless insult and can easily be avoided by prefacing your personal beliefs with "I could be wrong, but" — or "perhaps there is truth in what you say, however—"

As basic as any rule is the one of avoiding all questions that pry into the privacy of another. It is a crudeness that any well-seasoned conversationalist shuns as an absolute taboo. Only the prosecutor in a court of law has the right to pilory another person.

Don't try to win all the glory by knowing all the answers, if you don't want to be considered a conversational bumpkin.

And avoid like the plague a harsh, strident voice. You don't want to give the impression of bawling out a recalcitrant child . . . there's nothing less pleasant to hear. Only a dime and a stamped, return envelope sent to me, JRP, c/o this paper, will bring you your copy of "Your Most Attractive Voice," my booklet guaranteed to make your tones most dulcet. No woman can afford to go into an argument without a smooth, sweet voice backing her up!

Handle your pet conversational topic with caution! You are always in danger of talking it to death. Repetition is an implied criticism of its recipient. It means he made so little impression when you discussed the subject before that you now have forgotten that you did.

But there's one rule that will keep you from talking yourself into trouble. Never let your conversation run ahead of your consideration!

WSCS Meets

Woman's Society of Christian Service of Murley's Branch Church met recently at the home of Mrs. Eston Heavner. Mrs. Heavner led devotions on the subject, "Take the Name of Jesus with You." "Tis So Sweet to Trust in Jesus" and "All Hail the Power" were sung by the group. Mrs. Ruth Weicht gave the scripture reading.

Mrs. Homer Willison, Mrs. Richard Yonker, Mrs. Eugene Kisamore, Mrs. Francis Yonker, Mrs. Margaret Blubaugh, Mrs. Marshall Fletcher and Mrs. Paul Browning participated in the reading, "Carrying of the World." "Ripples of Charity" was read by Mrs. Eston Heavner; "The Voters Elect", Mrs. Willison; "The Plea for Idleness", Mrs. Ronald Lohr; "The Sacrament of Thanksgiving", Mrs. Fletcher and "What to be Thankful For," Mrs. Browning.

Mrs. Richard Yonker presided at the business session, at which routine matters were transacted. Mrs. Ronald Lohr was welcomed as a new member of the society.

Plans were formulated for the annual Christmas program which will be presented Sunday, December 18 at 7:30 p. m. at the Murley's Branch Church. The December meeting and Christmas party of the society will be held at the home of Mrs. Kisamore on a date to be announced later.

The meeting adjourned with the exchange of secret sister gifts and serving of refreshments.

The club then discussed future projects, including a covered dish luncheon at the next meeting, December 12 at noon in the fire hall. Guests will be welcome to the meeting, and members are asked to attend, as there will be a surprise program under direction of Mrs. Brown. Members also are asked to bring jingle gifts for a visit from Santa, and to bring cans of food for baskets to be distributed at Christmas time to needy families.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Cardinal Rules For Charming Conversation

Can you name some of the cardinal rules of tact which should always be observed in conversation?

Steering clear of unpleasant or highly emotional subjects is a paramount rule. Tactful conversation is a friendly art; only the objective and well-informed thinker should tackle such highly emotional and prejudice-charged subjects as religion or politics, and then only when he is sure of the feelings and tendencies of those present.

Always be respectful of another's opinion. No matter how wrong you think someone may be, never show your disregard for his belief by a sharp retort, tone of voice or sarcasm. If you can't discuss without arguing, change the subject—pleasantly.

Perhaps the biggest boner in conversation is the flat. "You are wrong!" That is the tactless insult and can easily be avoided by prefacing your personal beliefs with "I could be wrong, but" — or "perhaps there is truth in what you say, however—"

As basic as any rule is the one of avoiding all questions that pry into the privacy of another. It is a crudeness that any well-seasoned conversationalist shuns as an absolute taboo. Only the prosecutor in a court of law has the right to pilory another person.

Don't try to win all the glory by knowing all the answers, if you don't want to be considered a conversational bumpkin.

And avoid like the plague a harsh, strident voice. You don't want to give the impression of bawling out a recalcitrant child. . . there's nothing less pleasant to hear. Only a dime and a stamped, return envelope sent to me, JRP, c/o this paper, will bring you your copy of "Your Most Attractive Voice," my booklet guaranteed to make your tones most dulcet. No woman can afford to go into an argument without a smooth, sweet voice backing her up!

Handle your pet conversational topic with caution! You are always in danger of talking it to death. Repetition is an implied criticism of its recipient. It means he made so little impression when you discussed the subject before that you now have forgotten that you did.

But there's one rule that will keep you from talking yourself into trouble: Never let your conversation run ahead of your consideration!

Unit 1125 Receives Reports

About 170,000 members of the Veterans of World War I attended the national convention in Miami last month. Mrs. Rosalie Everstine told the local Ladies Auxiliary 1125 in a report at the organization's recent meeting.

Mrs. Everstine, who attended the convention, said membership of the national organization has grown greatly in the past year. Next year's convention will be held in Houston, Texas.

Mrs. Ina Smith presided at the meeting, and Mrs. Catherine Wilson led the flag salute to open the meeting. Mrs. Mary Abbott was received as a new member, and a prize presented to Mrs. Josephine Shonski.

Mrs. Chloe Reynolds announced that the next hospital trip will be a Christmas party on November 27. She asked that members donate cookies.

Mrs. Reynolds also reported on tag day, which was held October 27. Gifts for work on the project were presented by Mrs. Everstine and Mrs. Smith to Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Myrtle Brode and Mrs. Regina Koegel. Mrs. Reynolds also presented a birthday cake to Mrs. Smith as a gift from some of the members.

The auxiliary also observed the third anniversary of the local post. Thomas K. Whalley served a pink and white birthday cake and the auxiliary members sang "Happy Birthday," and served refreshments. Tables were decorated with fall flowers, leaves and turkeys. Mrs. Catherine Wilson was in charge of decorations, assisted by Mrs. Daisy Buskey, Mrs. Shonski, Mrs. Aletha Thompson, Mrs. Edith Castleman, Mrs. Everstine, Mrs. Irene Greise, Mrs. Brode and Mrs. Reynolds.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party December 14.

LaVale Club Nominates, Plans Party

The LaVale Homemakers Club yesterday nominated Mrs. Kenneth Drumm for vice president and Mrs. Richard Main for secretary at a meeting at LaVale Fire Hall.

Mrs. Ernest Screen, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the names of the candidates and the report was adopted.

Mrs. Winona Stimler presided at the meeting and led the flag salute. Mrs. Ralph Rice read the collect, and Mrs. Dudley Browne presented the hymn of the month, "We Gather Together." Roll call was answered with "My Favorite Picture," and routine reports were given.

Mrs. John Beckman reported on a food demonstration she gave recently for the Cresaptown Homemakers Club on a master mix. Mrs. Screen, Mrs. Stimler and Mrs. Beckman reported on the recent Achievement Day luncheon.

The club then discussed future projects, including a covered dish luncheon at the next meeting, December 12 at noon in the fire hall. Guests will be welcome to the meeting, and members are asked to attend, as there will be a surprise program under direction of Mrs. Brown. Members also are asked to bring jingle gifts for a visit from Santa, and to bring cans of food for baskets to be distributed at Christmas time to needy families.

Mrs. Maud Banzhof entertained the Past Presidents Parley of American Legion Auxiliary at her home Saturday evening.

Mrs. Hazel Harney, parley chairman, presided at the meeting at which several important issues were discussed. Christmas jingle names were drawn for the Christmas party to be held at the home of Mrs. Pearl Allen, Goethe Street.

Mrs. Marie Kelley won the hostess prize and Mrs. Pauline Smith the monthly prize.

Attending were Mrs. Effie Vogel, Mrs. Catherine Barnard, Mrs. Ovella Walker, Mrs. Marie Kelley, Mrs. Pauline Smith, Mrs. Banzhof, Mrs. Margaret Graim, Mrs. Harney, and Mrs. Katherine Smith of Bladensburg.

Following the meeting a luncheon was served and games were played.

Miltenberger Sisters To Mark Silver Jubilees

Two daughters of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wolfe Miltenberger of Ridgeley and the late George Miltenberger will celebrate their silver jubilees in the Ursuline Nuns with a solemn high mass Thanksgiving Day at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

They are Sister Rosaire, the former Isabelle Miltenberger, and Sister Hermina, the former Edith Miltenberger. Sister Rosaire is stationed in Pittsburgh and Sister Hermia is in Louisville, Ky.

The solemn high mass will be sung at 9:30 a. m. Thursday, November 24 by their brother, Rev. Stanley Miltenberger, O.F.M. Cap. Msgr. Louis Miltenberger of Washington, a cousin, will be deacon, and Rev. Marius Elsener, O.F.M. Cap., pastor of SS. Peter and Paul, will be subdeacon.

A breakfast for the immediate family will be held after mass, and a reception for all relatives and friends will be held from 2 to 4 p. m. in the church hall.

Both nuns attended SS. Peter and Paul Parochial School.

City Council Authorizes Mechanic Street Widening

The Mayor and Council, after some concern was expressed over the source of funds for the project, yesterday authorized the Street Department to widen North Mechanic Street between Baltimore and Bedford Streets.

The work, which council authorized Street Commissioner John J. Long to undertake, includes removing three feet of the sidewalk on the westerly side in connection with installation of new lights and conduits underway by the Commissioner of Water and Electric Light, G. Ray Light.

Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder raised the question about how the project would be paid for and said council, to be consistent, should cite some source of the funds. She said all are agreed that the street should be widened.

Assault Charge Is Dismissed

The assault charge against Edward Whisenhunt, 51, of Mill Run Road, was dropped yesterday when his wife failed to appear at a hearing scheduled in Trial Magistrate Court.

Whisenhunt was arrested early Friday morning by Trooper George R. Robinett of the State Police on a complaint of his wife, Mrs. Virginia Whisenhunt.

The Oldtown area man was scheduled to be given a hearing yesterday morning in Trial Magistrate Court on a charge of assault with intent to kill, but the charge was dismissed when Mrs. Whisenhunt failed to appear in court.

Mrs. Whisenhunt told police her husband threatened her with a butcher knife and later got a gun and chased her from the house. Whisenhunt had been released on $500 bond to await yesterday's hearing.

There will be room visitation from 7:30 until 8 p.m. Thursday.

Five Proposals

Parents are not given the opportunity to see the record, Mr. Herboldsheim said. He submitted a copy of a California law which became effective July 1, which provides that parents may see all of their children's school records.

Delegate William Walsh pointed out that this is only permissive legislation and is not mandatory upon school officials.

On the suggestion of Delegate Noel Speir Cook, it was agreed that Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster should be invited to a later conference of the legislators to explain the usage of these report forms.

Urges Tax Change

The final speaker was Irven C. Brant, 208 Grand Avenue, an advocate of a gross income tax instead of the present graduated income tax and sales tax in Maryland. He pointed out that Indiana and Hawaii have solved their state economic problems through this tax on gross earnings.

The county legislators appeared to favor consideration of this matter by the Legislative Council. They believe that John S. Shriver, director of the State Fiscal Research Bureau, could provide an opinion on the effect of a gross income tax upon Maryland's economy.

Senator See was joined at last night's meeting by Delegates Driscoll, Cook, Walsh, Estel C. Kelley and Thomas F. Conlon Jr. Delegate Lester B. Reed, minority leader in the House of Delegates, is in Chicago attending a national convention of legislative leaders and sent his regrets.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, questioned the three youths yesterday in Uniontown, Pa., where they are being held on charges of larceny.

Being held in the Uniontown jail are James E. Fisher, 18, and Thomas W. Rice, 19, both of Farmington, and Alvin J. Savage, 17, of Five Forks.

Mr. Lilya said he and Sgt. Baker took statements from the youths and that they admitted removing three coin boxes from telephone booths on August 17.

Detainer warrants for the three youths were left by Mr. Lilya with Uniontown police.

James W. Leasure was named by the Mayor and Council yesterday as probationary chairman in the Engineering Department, effective Wednesday.

Financial Picture And Russian Trade

In the midst of the continuing discussion about this country's lagging foreign exchange, the Commerce Department has come up with figures showing the balance of trade with Russia is favorable for the first time since 1947. Soaring purchases of all types of goods in this country by the Soviet this year have climbed even faster since the summit collapse.

Tightening of importations from the Soviet Union and an expanded list of goods which may be sold to Communist governments have made the outflow of goods from the United States in the first nine months of this year greater than all the sales to Russia in the last three years combined. At the same time a more liberal list of "non-strategic" machinery and materials for export was being adopted, import contracts for such items as Russian automobiles previously agreed to were canceled.

The growing attraction of American goods to Soviet buyers is important in many ways. It proves there is a shortage of important commodities in the Soviet Union which had previously been supposed to be plentiful. It also demonstrates a Russian eagerness for American quality despite a running international cold war. And Russian ability to pay for these goods is in itself an indication that many of the dollars flowing to Europe and Asia via pipelines of the American exchange deficit and government aid programs are filtering through to Moscow—probably also through the trade routes.

Russia's growing purchases of goods marked "made in U. S. A." evoke a paradox of feelings in the average person. It is gratifying to know that the United States is making a small recovery—from the enemy's camp—of the current $3 to $4 billion annual unfavorable balance. But is the price worth it? The machinery now being shipped to Russia, along with other scarce materials, is considered of more value to the Communist cause by the Kremlin than U. S. financial difficulties. Perhaps the list of "non-strategic" goods Russia is permitted to buy in the U. S. should be re-examined.

The Secretary Of State

As soon as it was clear that John Kennedy was elected, the question began to be debated as to who would be the next Secretary of State. Many names were mentioned: Chester Bowles, Adlai Stevenson, Eugene Black, Senator Fulbright, and so on. No one had a lead because the Candidate had enough trouble to get himself elected and if he runs true to form, he has made no commitments and no promises, particularly as to Cabinet posts.

It will be possible to have a fairly clear picture of the nature and structure of the Kennedy Administration after he has announced his appointments of the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of the Treasury. If, for instance, he appoints a weak Secretary of State, it will be obvious that Kennedy, as President, means to manage his own foreign affairs. Roosevelt had Cordell Hull as his Secretary of State because he wanted to handle these problems himself. President Truman had a strong man in office, Dean Acheson. President Eisenhower had a strong man in John Foster Dulles and a weak man in Christian Herter. Dulles ran the State Department as though the President did not exist. Acheson accepted more attacks than any Secretary of State in many decades; he would today be welcomed by many of those who attacked him.

If the President means to conduct his own foreign policy, nothing can stop him. The Secretary of State then becomes the head technician of a bureaucracy with very little initiative. In the days of John Hay, Elihu Root and Charles Evans Hughes, this made little difference. The bureaucracy was small and controlled by patriotic motives and a Secretary could depend upon his subordinates.

Today, the State Department is a vast bureaucratic organization where it is possible for Deskmans to form policy as a result of day-by-day operations. We lost Cuba because of improprieties down on the Desk level in the State Department. By the time that a weak Secretary of State or a strong President can recognize what has been done, the United States is faced by a miserable fait accompli. That is the history of China in 1947-49; it is the history of Cuba in 1958-9.

One of the most serious problems that the State Department must deal with is the constant menace to it of homosexuals who have found employment in government. It is extremely difficult to discover whether a person is a homosexual or not. The screening of prospective employees does not always bring out the one fact that so often imperils the Department. For instance, when in the State Department or in the British Foreign Office there have been defectors to Soviet Russia, all the available evidence points to homosexuality.

Because a homosexual male or female is subject to blackmail, and since blackmail is practiced, particularly on individuals who have to do with codes or files, this matter is of great importance. It is cited here only because the management of the State Department is a difficult one, requiring constant vigilance, especially as regards human weakness. To permit a man whose mother was Cuban to handle the Cuban Desk, for instance, is an error of management which is unforgivable.

When John Kennedy announces who will be Secretary of State, it will be possible to recognize whether he will run an efficient or a political organization. Sometimes, it is possible to combine competence and politics in one person — not too often, however. This is the telling appointment.

Such appointments, in this country, are personal with the President. That is not true in Great Britain, for instance, where the Foreign Minister is usually elected to the House of Commons. (The present one is in the House of Lords.) He is a public official in his own right. He remains a member of Parliament even if he ceases to be the Foreign Minister. He is also a member of a party which has a voice in the conduct of its party's leaders. None of this is true in the United States. The Secretary of State is a personal appointee of the President who can dismiss him at will. He need not be a member of the President's party. He need have no experience. He need not be effective. He need only have the confidence of the President and the confirmation of the Senate.

'What If He Won't Play Cowboys And Indians?'

The Risks Of Our System Of Government

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Do the American people have the faintest idea of what they have done to their government by their votes on election day? Do they know the dangers and even possible tragedy of transition in government as one administration takes over from another?

Someday the American people ought to be told the whole truth so they will be persuaded to change the present system, which is antiquated and ill suited for a nuclear age.

What better time, for instance, for a foreign government to begin playing with fire and to precipitate a crisis than today? Virtually all the administration's top policy makers and experienced officials must begin to pack their bags. Their interest now turns to their private affairs. The workload is going to be somebody else's responsibility in a few weeks anyway.

For the knowledge and experience accumulated in nearly eight years of service, these are to be tossed away as a new personnel takes over and starts to learn what it is all about.

Senator Kennedy is a conscientious individual, who will try to make a good President. But he must learn first the intimate background of public affairs. This takes not a few weeks but many months and perhaps years. It's a high price for the nation to pay. Is there some other way? The British and many other English-speaking countries have a better system. It is called the "parliamentary" system. It requires the electorate to pick in an election their representatives in the national legislature, and these representatives select the leader who becomes responsible for the executive as well as the legislative branches of the government.

If the party in power makes mistakes and loses the confidence of the people, it can be ousted at any time, or a new legislature can be elected. A permanent personnel, known as the "career service," functions continuously in high posts irrespective of the party in power. Thus is continuity assured and transition made smooth and effective in the shortest possible time.

It isn't a perfect system, and the American people could doubtless improve upon it with certain safeguards. But it is a democratic system and one that is immediately responsive to the will of the people.

Thus, when an American President is elected, he can make serious blunders but he cannot be ousted for four years except by the impeachment process. This is a long time in modern government. Back in 1913, just before his inauguration, President-elect Woodrow Wilson was asked his views on the then proposed Constitutional amendment limiting a President to a single term of six years as recommended in the 1912 Democratic national platform. Mr. Wilson wrote a letter to Congress in which he said rightly that four years is often too long a time before the nation can get a new President and sometimes too short a time to give to a man who has initiated a reform program that the people might desire. He hinted then that the United States might someday come to some form of responsible government by Cabinet, which, of course, describes the parliamentary system.

OFF THE RECORD — When a government official or public personality desires to explain a situation to reporters but doesn't want it printed for obvious reasons, he usually requests that his remarks be kept "off the record."

Washington reporters and most newsmen in other parts of the country usually respect the request because it is the only means for them to obtain straight information on a news development, which, even though it can't be printed, may keep them from publishing errors or distortions.

We remember some flagrant and some innocent violations of confidence. One outstanding one concerned the remarks of a U. S. official at the United Nations organizing conference in San Francisco in 1945. He went "off the record" at a press conference only to find his remarks printed in toto in a local newspaper with the reporter faithfully reporting that they were made "off the record."

A Louisiana politician recently had some things to say "off the record." He said them to a gathering of about 200 persons, many not professional journalists. And he specified: "If this is used, and I hope it is not, make sure you say that it was off the record and not for publication."

The Difference Between Old Age And Senility

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

It is difficult to define old age and to determine the point where the decline of life first is observed or felt. The onset of the final decline differs widely, depending upon family longevity, previous health, habits, and mental outlook. Luck also enters the picture.

Old age is a stage of life that begins usually after 60, but don't confuse it with senility. It continues so long as the individual remains active and has his mental faculties. These years can be the most enjoyable and carefree in man's life.

Senility comes on when there is marked deterioration of mind and body. The person is incapacitated for a day or a month and may vegetate for years. This terminal period of life is likely to be the shortest aspect of old age.

The onset of mental and physical deterioration can be postponed and its progress retarded by proper care. Temporary setbacks occur with colds when infection develops, as in the bladder or kidneys. This is why resistance ought to be kept at a high level.

By keeping life simple, the mind is relieved of unnecessary strain. The greatest help comes from indulging in some occupation that provides a feeling of usefulness. Those who think of the senior years in these terms will consider retirement as resigning from an active life. This freedom from stress and strain is well earned and worthy of the reward that goes with a job well done. Retirement is the beginning of a new life that requires planning to enjoy and flexibility to roll with the punches, wherever they strike.

EXCESS PUPILS

J. A. C. writes: I have two pupils in my left eye. What causes the extra?

REPLY

Ask your physician because there are several causes. Some persons have two true openings in the eye (polycoria) due to a double set of shutters (irises). When this occurs in both eyes there are four pupils. In other instances, the second pupil represents a hole in the iris caused by a blowout or disease. In some persons the iris atrophies and becomes so moth-eaten that four or five holes develop. Vision may not be impaired because looking through two or more pupils is comparable to looking through a grid or screen.

MONGOLOIDS

J. M. writes: Is the cause of mongoloid births known?

REPLY

These children are born with 47 instead of 46 chromosomes. This may be an accident of nature or a hereditary trait.

CLAMS AND LIQUOR

M. A. B. writes: I often have heard people say that when you eat raw clams you should never take any hard liquor before or after, otherwise you will become deathly sick. Is this just a superstition?

Nixon Remains Most Likely Man In Republican Ranks For 1964

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There is one development from the recent election you can write down definitely: Richard M. Nixon is likely to be the next candidate for President on the Republican ticket.

Nixon's fighting finish and the terrific scare he gave the Democrats on election night when JFK was confident he could coast in has pepped up the Republican Party as at no other time following an election defeat.

Nixon has had a lot of offers to join various firms, including that of ex-Gov. Tom Dewey. Nixon, however, is not going to take any of these—soon, he will look around carefully for a springboard which can keep his name in the news and put him in line for the nomination in 1964.

Meanwhile it's better than a 50-50 bet that Nixon will run for Governor of California. He has noted the wobbly political power of once popular Gov. Pat Brown, Democrat, and he has no compunction about pushing his old supporter, ex-Gov. Goodie Knight, to one side again. He pushed Knight over to a Senate race and certain defeat two years ago when Knight was a sure bet to be re-elected Governor. Now Knight is itching to run again.

However, one of the best ways to stage a comeback for 1964 is a routin' tootin' race against Democratic Governor Brown two years hence, which would roll up a heavy vote and victory. You can write it down he will take the road which will put him in line for a comeback—soon.

Ike's Depression

President Eisenhower flew to Augusta, Ga., very depressed over Senator Kennedy's victory.

Though at the start of the campaign he had announced he would stay out, by the time election night rolled around Ike had worked himself up into a real fury over Kennedy's criticism. He particularly resented Kennedy's charge that the Eisenhower Administration was standing still, that the USA had lost prestige.

Eisenhower, at the age of 70 and with over 40 years of military experience behind him, is now playing for the history books. He has wanted to go down in history as a man of peace as well as a great commander in time of war. And he now believes that Kennedy's charges during the campaign plus his victory on November 8 will go down in history as an indictment of his eight years in the White House.

Until the very end, Ike was confident for Nixon. He figured a mighty surge of Republican votes would put the Vice President over the top. His hopes were buoyed by a telephone call from Governor Rockefeller two hours before the polls closed in New York, when Nelson confidently predicted that New York would surprise everyone and go Republican. Despite all the polls to the contrary, the President believed this.

So, when New York state gave Kennedy the biggest plurality of any in the union, Ike was stunned. This was why he went to Augusta very depressed and why he sent one of the curtest congratulatory messages in history to the new President-elect.

Mr. K And Mr. K

Some people may have been surprised at the cordial telegram sent by Premier Khrushchev to President-elect Kennedy. It fairly glowed with exultation over his victory.

What the public doesn't know is that early last fall the Soviet Embassy in Washington, headed by astute Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, took a very careful reading on the two presidential candidates. The report went back to Moscow that while on the surface both Nixon and Kennedy were alike, actually Kennedy was the more dynamic, the more courageous, and the more liberal. In addition, Soviet leaders already knew Nixon.

But the Russians have now become realists in regard to American politics. Khrushchev was advised when in New York to keep his mouth shut regarding either candidate. The same advice had gone to him from Ambassador Menshikov almost two months before. Foreign Minister Gromyko had received the same advice. They all concurred. And they kept their mouths shut.

Every member of the Soviet Embassy staff in Washington plus every other Eastern European diplomat smilingly said "no comment" regarding the American election. Or on some occasions they commented: "They're both the same. What difference does it make?"

Premier Khrushchev, however, has now made it clear that he's delighted over Kennedy's victory. American diplomatic reports from Moscow state that this is genuine. They also state that Khrushchev does not expect Kennedy to be any easy mark at the conference table, but much more reasonable than Nixon when it comes to constructive agreements for peace.

Crisis In France

On top of General de Gaulle's other woes, fanatic right-wing French Army officers are planning a revolt against him. The plot is well under way and may explode any day.

Behind the plot is French Army resentment over de Gaulle's plan to make Algeria virtually an independent republic. The French Army had helped to put de Gaulle into power on the belief that he would champion their cause in Algeria, and now they're bitterly disappointed for approximately 15 years the French Army has been in intermittent, sometimes definite mutiny against the premiers of France. At times they thumbed their noses at civilian rule.

De Gaulle, however, has cracked down on them hard. As a military man, he knows what the score is. He also knows that some of his own officers are restless and plotting, has had the colonels and generals who are in on the current plot watched day and night.

The situation has become so tense that some time ago Communist leaders in Paris notified de Gaulle that he could count on the trained underground army of the Communist party in case of trouble. What is feared most in Paris is an assassination attack on the President. De Gaulle is notoriously careless about his own protection. He drives to his country estate at breakneck speed, with no armed escort to speak of. It would be a fairly simple matter to crack up his car on one of these trips. Favorite Stocks

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — The favorite stock of the investment companies—as measured by the dollar value of the holdings — is International Business Machines.

Five years ago it only ranked as No. 19 and 10 years ago as No. 25.

Styles in investments change almost as radically as do those of milady.

In the latest study of the fifty most favored stocks, made quarterly by Vickers Associates, only 24 of today's favorite 50 were in the grouping 10 years ago and only 30 five years ago.

The study covers more than 300 funds, including 71 closed end trusts.

The holdings of these funds in IBM today have a market value of $456 million.

The next largest holding dollar-wise is Texaco, with $211 million invested in its shares. U. S. Steel is third, with $168 million.

The stock that has had one of the most sensational rises in popularity is American Telephone & Telegraph. The funds have $160 million invested in A.T. & T. and it is No. 4 in the "hit parade," but at the close of last year it was No. 18 and five years ago No. 26. It didn't make the favorite 50 list ten years ago.

Outside of IBM, Telephone and General Electric, none of the stocks show a steady improvement in investment popularity with the managers of the big funds. There are a number that have steadily lost ground. This includes several of the oils and the papers.

In the latest list there is not a single railroad stock, nor an air line. There are no aircraft manufacturing, rail equipment or bank stocks in the list.

There are a number of utilities, seven being among the fifty. There are still nine oils in the list. There are four steels. Only one tobacco.

New additions since the end of last year include these eight: Arkansas Louisiana Gas, Phillips Petroleum, which returned to the list, Reynolds Tobacco, Sears Roebuck, which returned, Polaroid, General Public Utilities, which returned, General Foods and Virginia Electric Power.

Interesting are those that fell off the list from five years ago. These include Goodrich, Santa Fe, Socony, National Lead, Kennecott, Sinclair, North American Aviation, Monsanto Chemical, Alcoa, Southern Railway, Superior Oil, Reynolds Metals, U. S. Gypsum, Union Pacific, Phelps Dodge, Crown Zellerbach, Seaboard Airline R. R., Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Cities Service and Illinois Central R. R.

On the "popularity" contest, there is another yardstick. This is the number of funds holding investments in a given stock. Standard Oil of N. J. ranks first on this list, with 119 funds holding its shares. General Motors is second with 109, IBM third with 106, Texaco fourth with 105 and DuPont fifth with 101.

The Risks Of Our System Of Government

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Do the American people have the faintest idea of what they have done to their government by their votes on election day? Do they know the dangers and even possible tragedy of transition in government as one administration takes over from another?

Someday the American people ought to be told the whole truth so they will be persuaded to change the present system, which is antiquated and ill suited for a nuclear age.

What better time, for instance, for a foreign government to begin playing with fire and to precipitate a crisis than today? Virtually all the administration's top policy makers and experienced officials must begin to pack their bags. Their interest now turns to their private affairs. The workload is going to be somebody else's responsibility in a few weeks anyway.

As for the knowledge and experience accumulated in nearly eight years of service, these are to be tossed away as a new personnel takes over and starts to learn what it is all about.

Senator Kennedy is a conscientious individual, who will try to make a good President. But he must learn first the intimate background of public affairs. This takes not a few weeks but many months and perhaps years. It's a high price for the nation to pay. Is there some other way? The British and many other English-speaking countries have a better system. It is called the "parliamentary" system. It requires the electorate to pick in an election their representatives in the national legislature, and these representatives select the leader who becomes responsible for the executive as well as the legislative branches of the government.

If the party in power makes mistakes and loses the confidence of the people, it can be ousted at any time, or a new legislature can be elected. A permanent personnel, known as the "career service," functions continuously in high posts irrespective of the party in power. Thus is continuity assured and transition made smooth and effective in the shortest possible time.

It isn't a perfect system, and the American people could doubtless improve upon it with certain safeguards. But it is a democratic system and one that is immediately responsive to the will of the people.

Thus, when an American President is elected, he can make serious blunders but he cannot be ousted for four years except by the impeachment process. This is a long time in modern government. Back in 1913, just before his inauguration, President-elect Woodrow Wilson was asked his views on the then proposed Constitutional amendment limiting a President to a single term of six years as recommended in the 1912 Democratic national platform. Mr. Wilson wrote a letter to Congress in which he said rightly that four years is often too long a time before the nation can get a new President and sometimes too short a time to give to a man who has initiated a reform program that the people might desire. He hinted then that the United States might someday come to some form of responsible government by Cabinet, which, of course, describes the parliamentary system.

OFF THE RECORD — When a government official or public personality desires to explain a situation to reporters but doesn't want it printed for obvious reasons, he usually requests that his remarks be kept "off the record."

Washington reporters and most newsmen in other parts of the country usually respect the request because it is the only means for them to obtain straight information on a news development, which, even though it can't be printed, may keep them from publishing errors or distortions.

We remember some flagrant and some innocent violations of confidence. One outstanding one concerned the remarks of a U. S. official at the United Nations organizing conference in San Francisco in 1945. He went "off the record" at a press conference only to find his remarks printed in toto in a local newspaper with the reporter faithfully reporting that they were made "off the record."

A Louisiana politician recently had some things to say "off the record." He said them to a gathering of about 200 persons, many not professional journalists. And he specified: "If this is used, and I hope it is not, make sure you say that it was off the record and not for publication."

The Difference Between Old Age And Senility

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

It is difficult to define old age and to determine the point where the decline of life first is observed or felt. The onset of the final decline differs widely, depending upon family longevity, previous health, habits, and mental outlook. Luck also enters the picture.

Old age is a stage of life that begins usually after 60, but don't confuse it with senility. It continues so long as the individual remains active and has his mental faculties. These years can be the most enjoyable and carefree in man's life.

Senility comes on when there is marked deterioration of mind and body. The person is incapacitated for a day or a month and may vegetate for years. This terminal period of life is likely to be the shortest aspect of old age.

The onset of mental and physical deterioration can be postponed and its progress retarded by proper care. Temporary setbacks occur with colds when infection develops, as in the bladder or kidneys. This is why resistance ought to be kept at a high level.

By keeping life simple, the mind is relieved of unnecessary strain. The greatest help comes from indulging in some occupation that provides a feeling of usefulness.

Those who think of the senior years in these terms will consider retirement as resigning from an active life. This freedom from stress and strain is well earned and worthy of the reward that goes with a job well done. Retirement is the beginning of a new life that requires planning to enjoy and flexibility to roll with the punches, wherever they strike.

EXCESS PUPILS

J. A. C. writes: I have two pupils in my left eye. What causes the extra?

REPLY

Ask your physician because there are several causes. Some persons have two true openings in the eye (polyocular) due to a double set of shutters (irises). When this occurs in both eyes there are four pupils. In other instances, the second pupil represents a hole in the iris caused by a blowout or disease. In some persons the iris atrophies and becomes so moth-eaten that four or five holes develop. Vision may not be impaired because looking through two or more pupils is comparable to looking through a grid or screen.

MONGOLOIDS

J. M. writes: Is the cause of mongoloid births known?

REPLY

These children are born with 47 instead of 46 chromosomes. This may be an accident of nature or a hereditary trait.

CLAMS AND LIQUOR

M. A. B. writes: I often have heard people say that when you eat raw clams you should never take any hard liquor before or after, otherwise you will become deathly sick. Is this just a superstition?

Nixon Remains Most Likely Man In Republican Ranks For 1964

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — There is one development from the recent election you can write down definitely: Richard M. Nixon is likely to be the next candidate for President on the Republican ticket.

Nixon's fighting finish and the terrific scare he gave the Democrats on election night when JFK was confident he could coast in has pepped up the Republican Party as at no other time following an election defeat.

Nixon has had a lot of offers to join various firms, including that of ex-Gov. Tom Dewey. Nixon, however, is not going to take any of these—soon, he will look around carefully for a springboard which can keep his name in the news and put him in line for the nomination in 1964.

Meanwhile it's better than a 50-50 bet that Nixon will run for Governor of California. He has noted the wobbly political power of once popular Gov. Pat Brown, Democrat, and he has no compunction about pushing his old supporter, ex-Gov. Goodie Knight, to one side again. He pushed Knight over to a Senate race and certain defeat two years ago when Knight was a sure bet to be re-elected Governor. Now Knight is itching to run again.

However, one of the best ways to stage a comeback for 1964 is a routin' tootin' race against Democratic Governor Brown two years hence, which would roll up a heavy vote and victory. You can write it down he will take the road which will put him in line for a comeback—soon.

Ike's Depression

President Eisenhower flew to Augusta, Ga., very depressed over Senator Kennedy's victory.

Though at the start of the campaign he had announced he would stay out, by the time election night rolled around Ike had worked himself up into a real fury over Kennedy's criticism. He particularly resented Kennedy's charge that the Eisenhower Administration was standing still, that the USA had lost prestige.

Eisenhower, at the age of 70 and with over 40 years of military experience behind him, is now playing for the history books. He has wanted to go down in history as a man of peace as well as a great commander in time of war. And he now believes that Kennedy's charges during the campaign plus his victory on November 8 will go down in history as an indictment of his eight years in the White House.

Until the very end, Ike was confident for Nixon. He figured a mighty surge of Republican votes would put the Vice President over the top. His hopes were buoyed by a telephone call from Governor Rockefeller two hours before the polls closed in New York, when Nelson confidently predicted that New York would surprise everyone and go Republican. Despite all the polls to the contrary, the President believed this.

So, when New York state gave Kennedy the biggest plurality of any in the union, Ike was stunned. This was why he went to Augusta very depressed and why he sent one of the curtest congratulatory messages in history to the new President-elect.

Mr. K And Mr. K

Some people may have been surprised at the cordial telegram sent by Premier Khrushchev to President-elect Kennedy. It fairly glowed with exultation over his victory.

What the public doesn't know is that early last fall the Soviet Embassy in Washington, headed by astute Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, took a very careful reading on the two presidential candidates. The report went back to Moscow that while on the surface both Nixon and Kennedy were alike, actually Kennedy was the more dynamic, the more courageous, and the more liberal. In addition, Soviet leaders already knew Nixon.

But the Russians have now become realists in regard to American politics. Khrushchev was advised when in New York to keep his mouth shut regarding either candidate. The same advice had gone to him from Ambassador Menshikov almost two months before. Foreign Minister Gromyko had received the same advice. They all concurred. And they kept their mouths shut.

Every member of the Soviet Embassy staff in Washington plus every other Eastern European diplomat smilingly said "no comment" regarding the American election. Or on some occasions they commented: "They're both the same. What difference does it make?"

Premier Khrushchev, however, has now made it clear that he's delighted over Kennedy's victory. American diplomatic reports from Moscow state that this is genuine. They also state that Khrushchev does not expect Kennedy to be any easy mark at the conference table, but much more reasonable than Nixon when it comes to constructive agreements for peace.

Crisis In France

On top of General de Gaulle's other woes, fanatic right-wing French Army officers are planning a revolt against him. The plot is well under way and may explode any day.

Behind the plot is French Army resentment over de Gaulle's plan to make Algeria virtually an independent republic. The French Army had helped to put de Gaulle into power on the belief that he would champion their cause in Algeria, and now they're bitterly disappointed for approximately 15 years the French Army has been in intermittent, sometimes definite mutiny against the premiers of France. At times they thumbed their noses at civilian rule.

De Gaulle, however, has cracked down on them hard. As a military man, he knows what the score is. He also knows that some of his own officers are restless and plotting, has had the colonels and generals who are in on the current plot watched day and night.

The situation has become so tense that some time ago Communist leaders in Paris notified de Gaulle that he could count on the trained underground army of the Communist party in case of trouble. What is feared most in Paris is an assassination attack on the President. De Gaulle is notoriously careless about his own protection. He drives to his country estate at breakneck speed, with no armed escort to speak of. It would be a fairly simple matter to crack up his car on one of these trips.

Favorite Stocks

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK—The favorite stock of the investment companies—as measured by the dollar value of the holdings — is International Business Machines.

Five years ago it only ranked as No. 19 and 10 years ago as No. 25.

Styles in investments change almost as radically as do those of midday.

In the latest study of the fifty most favored stocks, made quarterly by Vickers Associates, only 24 of today's favorite 50 were in the grouping 10 years ago and only 30 five years ago.

The study covers more than 300 funds, including 71 closed end trusts. The holdings of these funds in IBM today have a market value of $456 million.

The next largest holding dollar-wise is Texaco, with $211 million invested in its shares. U. S. Steel is third, with $168 million.

The stock that has had one of the most sensational rises in popularity is American Telephone & Telegraph. The funds have $160 million invested in A. T. & T. and it is No. 4 in the "hit parade," but at the close of last year it was No. 18 and five years ago No. 26. It didn't make the favorite 50 list ten years ago.

Outside of IBM, Telephone and General Electric, none of the stocks show a steady improvement in investment popularity with the managers of the big funds. There are a number that have steadily lost ground. This includes several of the oils and the papers.

In the latest list there is not a single railroad stock, nor an air line. There are no aircraft manufacturing, rail equipment or bank stocks in the list.

There are a number of utilities, seven being among the fifty. There are still nine oils in the list. There are four steels. Only one tobacco.

New additions since the end of last year include these eight—Arkansas Louisiana Gas, Phillips Petroleum, which returned to the list, Reynolds Tobacco, Sears Roebuck, which returned, Polaroid, General Public Utilities, which returned, General Foods and Virginia Electric Power.

Interesting are those that fell off the list from five years ago. These include Goodrich, Santa Fe, Socony, National Lead, Kennecott, Sinclair, North American Aviation, Monsanto Chemical, Alcoa, Southern Railway, Superior Oil, Reynolds Metals, U. S. Gypsum, Union Pacific, Phelps Dodge, Crown Zellerbach, Seaboard Airline R. R., Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Cities Service and Illinois Central R. R.

On the "popularity" contest, there is another yardstick. This is the number of funds holding investments in a given stock. Standard Oil of N. J. ranks first on this list, with 119 funds holding its shares. General Motors is second with 109, IBM third with 106, Texaco fourth with 105 and DuPont fifth with 101.

Try And Stop Me

A sage at the big Clark Printing Company, in Kansas City, makes this sound and sensible business forecast for the coming season:

Business will continue to go where invited and remain where appreciated.

Performance will continue to outsell promises. Enthusiasm will be as contagious as ever. Trust, not tricks, will keep customers loyal.

Reputations will continue to be made by many a-c's and lost by one.

Go-givers will become the best go-getters.

A London psychologist put this interesting question to his class: "If you were offered the wage you are getting now, every week for the rest of your life — guaranteed — on the sole condition that you never work again, would you accept?" Most of the class said they would refuse, but a few cautious students wanted time to reflect.

Bill Feather, of Cleveland, recorded the proposition. Suppose we moved into a society of absolute equality of incomes, would you carry on with your present job, or make an immediate shift? There's one to ponder over!

Garrett County Airport Work Begins In April

Bids To Be Asked By January 15

OAKLAND — The Board of Commissioners of Garrett County has been informed that state and national aviation officials plan to advertise for bids on the proposed airport for this county by January 15, and that work on the project is expected to begin next April.

The board was advised of the action while attending a meeting in Baltimore of the State Aviation Commission and Airways engineers.

Carl Schell, president of the board, said the plans had been revised to comply with state and federal regulations.

The commissioners had hoped to get the project moving by July of this year. It was reported last March 10 that federal and state funds had been appropriated to ward the construction of the airport.

At that time it was reported from Washington that federal funds would go to three Maryland airports in the year starting July 1 under the federal aid airport program. Sen. J. Glenn Beall said at that time he had been advised by the Federal Aviation Agency of the distribution of $153,500 for a Garrett county airport.

Governor Taves also announced at that time he had placed $57,500 in the capital improvements program of the state as a part of the state's share in the airport program. The two other federal appropriations mentioned were $70,750 for Friendship International airport, and $22,500 for the Crisfield-Somerset county airport at Crisfield.

The proposed airport would be located on the White Face farm, formerly owned by C. M. White, of Cleveland, a former Oakland resident, which was presented to the county commissioners a few years ago.

Under the federal program $15,000 would be to acquire land, airport site and clearing zones, $140,430 for construction of an east-west runway, 2500 feet by 75 feet, with an apron of 225 by 225, with connecting taxiway, including necessary approach clearing; and $2,870 for construction of an access road.

Under plans submitted by Airways Engineering Corporation of Washington the county was to provide $79,150 and the state a similar amount.

The original plan called for a runway of 2,500 feet with enough excavation work completed to extend the runway for an additional 2,500 feet with very little additional work.

Total estimated cost was $316,600. The land now owned by the county would be included in the county's share of the cost and the land was valued early this year at $31,000. Rental of county equipment would also be considered in the county's share of the construction costs.

Valley Awards Top Magazine Solicitors

Valley High School's magazine campaign top salesmen are pictured receiving their prizes. P. D. Beable, principal, Ann Lamberson received a wrist watch for being the best saleswoman. FSTC Singers Will Present Fall Concert

FROSTBURG — Three College choral organizations under the direction of Charles I. Sager will present a fall concert in Compton Auditorium today at 8:15 p.m. Carole Bean and Julia Hendricks, students, will accompany the groups.

The Elizabethan Madrigals, a newly organized group of vocalists, together with the Madrigals and the Maryland Singers will present numbers. Members of the new group include Marsha Barclay, Eva Bourne, Carole Bean, Sue Ebersole, Sally Travert, Eugene Kidwell, Howard Lemmert, Kenneth Moreland and Mr. Sager.

The program of the Elizabethan Madrigals includes "Now Start We With A Goodly Song" by Hans Leo Hasler; "Matona, Lovely Maiden" by Orlando Lassus; "Sweet Nymph, Come to Thy Lover" by "I Go Before My Darling" and "Now Is the Month of Maying" by Thomas More; "How Merry We Live" by Michael East; "Happy, Oh Happy He" by John Wilbye and "In These Delightful Pleasant Groves" by Henry Purcell.

Selections by the Madrigal Singers include "The Keys of My Heart" by Arthur Warrell; "Goodnight" arranged by Katherine Davis; and "Black Jack Davey" by "Little Bird" and "Creep Along Jones" all compositions of Gail Kubik.

The Maryland Singers will present "No Man Is An Island" arranged by Roy Ringwald; "How Do I Love Thee" by Noble Cain, and "Alleluia" by Randall Thompson.

Officers of the Madrigals organization are Sue Ebersole, president; Darlene Van Roon, vice president; Vera McKensie, secretary; Sandra Cadarette, treasurer, and Bettie Umstead and John Goss, librarians.

Heading the Maryland Singers is Howard Lemmert, president, Marian Skidmore, secretary, and Samuel Huffer, treasurer.

Members of the family presented the couple with a variety of gifts. Those present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Payne and children, Tommy and Christine; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Inskip and son, Andrew; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Twigg, and children, Carolyn, Elissa, and Ricky.

The former Miss Sarah Starnes became the bride of Mr. Payne on November 12, 1913. The wedding ceremony was solemnized at the home of John Shank, Moele Street, Keyser, with Rev. Hammond of the United Brethren Church officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne are the parents of five children three of whom are living. They are Mrs. Virginia Inskip, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Alma Twigg, Short Gap, W. Va.; and Floyd E. Payne, Keyser. Two children died in infancy.

Episcopalians Sponsor Bazar At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Plans are being completed for the Fair of Nations Bazaar which will be held Wednesday at St. John's Episcopal Church, according to Mrs. John Hodges, general chairman.

The bazaar will open at 5:30 p.m. with a turkey dinner under the direction of Mrs. Beverly Hayes and Mrs. Grace Mont, co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. Gus Harris, Mrs. John Hughes and Mrs. John Ware.

A plant booth will feature a large supply of African violets, geraniums, columbine, ivy, begonias, cacti, dish gardens and other potted plants. The co-chairmen, Mrs. C. P. Davidson and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lord, will give mimeographed directions on the care of the plants with each purchase.

The gifts booth, under direction of Mrs. Arthur Roe and Mrs. Marshall Price, will feature handmade baby clothing, knit wear and stuffed toys.

Mrs. Eugene Smith and Mrs. Arthur Taylor are sponsoring an apron booth.

Mrs. Ben Hughes Jr., chairman of a Christmas booth, said her display will feature Christmas candles, gift wrappings, cards and other holiday accessories.

Maple syrup, preserves and baked goods will highlight the pantry booth, according to Mrs. C. Walter Hayes, chairman.

One of the most colorful booths will offer handmade items from India, including turquoise and filigree jewelry, hand-blocked bedspreads, silk scarves and gauze stoles and brassware.

A wide variety of used but still usable items will be displayed at a "white elephant" booth under the supervision of Mrs. Charles G. Mehan and Mrs. C. Amer Suter.

For children there will be a grab bag and surprise parcel post packages to be sold by Misses Barbara Walker and Edith Hanter.

Each booth will be appropriately decorated by Mrs. Robert L. Rephan and her committee.

Garrett County Airport Work Begins In April

Bids To Be Asked
By January 15

OAKLAND — The Board of Commissioners of Garrett County has been informed that state and national aviation officials plan to advertise for bids on the proposed airport for this county by January 15, and that work on the project is expected to begin next April.

The board was advised of the action while attending a meeting in Baltimore of the State Aviation Commission and Airways engineers.

Carl Schell, president of the board, said the plans had been revised to comply with state and federal regulations.

The commissioners had hoped to get the project moving by July of this year. It was reported last March 10 that federal and state funds had been appropriated to ward the construction of the airport.

At that time it was reported from Washington that federal funds would go to three Maryland airports in the year starting July 1 under the federal aid airport program. Sen. J. Glenn Beall said at that time he had been advised by the Federal Aviation Agency of the distribution of $153,300 for a Garrett county airport.

Governor Taves also announced at that time he had placed $37,500 in the capital improvements program of the state as a part of the state's share in the airport program. The two other federal appropriations mentioned were $570,750 for Friendship International airport, and $22,500 for the Crisfield-Somerset county airport at Crisfield.

The proposed airport would be located on the White Face farm, formerly owned by C. M. White, of Cleveland, a former Oakland resident, which was presented to the county commissioners a few years ago.

Under the federal program $15,000 would be to acquire land, airport site and clearing zones, $140,430 for construction of an east-west runway, 2500 feet by 75 feet, with an apron of 225 by 225, with connecting taxiway, including necessary approach clearing, and $2,870 for construction of an access road.

Under plans submitted by Airways Engineering Corporation of Washington the county was to provide $79,150 and the state a similar amount.

The original plan called for a runway of 2,500 feet with enough excavation work completed to extend the runway for an additional 2,500 feet with very little additional work.

Total estimated cost was $316,600. The land now owned by the county would be included in the county's share of the cost and the land was valued early this year at $31,000. Rental of county equipment would also be considered in the county's share of the construction costs.

Record Number Attends Parent Day At PSC

KEYSER — Over 500 parents from distant points in West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New Jersey, and the District of Columbia, as well as from the immediate area, were at Potomac State College Saturday for the fourth annual Parents Day, considered one of the best attended.

After registering and greeting one another over coffee in the gymnasium, they filled the bleachers and chairs for a brief convocation. Kenneth F. Haines, acting adviser of Student Council, introduced president E. E. Church, Dean K. S. McKee and student body president John C. Allen, each of whom spoke briefly.

The college orchestra, directed by Philip Faini, provided music during registration and the coffee hour.

Faculty members were stationed at their respective posts in classrooms and laboratories, the library, music building and gymnasium to greet parents as they toured the campus in the company of their sons and daughters.

Mothers and dads of football players were entertained by Coach Dana G. Lough at lunch in Davis Hall, following which the fathers accompanied their sons to the dressing room and then to the playing field, where the fathers occupied a special bench directly behind the players to give moral support in the 20-7 victory over Baltimore College.

The college marching band, directed by Faini, gave a thrilling performance at halftime using unique formations and displaying rare entertainment form.

Missouri Replaces Minnesota As UPI Grid Leader

Tigers Fifth Team To Hold No. 1 Position

Gophers Dropped To 4th; Mississippi In Runner-Up Spot

NEW YORK (UPI)—Missouri, slamming steadily ahead toward a perfect season while its chief rivals stumbled, became the nation's No. 1 college football team Monday in the weekly ratings by the United Press International Board of Coaches.

A 41-19 rout of Oklahoma, the first Tiger victory over the Sooners in 15 years, enabled Missouri to step up into the No. 1 spot when Minnesota, which was ranked first last week, took a 23-14 beating from Purdue.

Mississippi, unbeaten but tied once, succeeded to the No. 2 spot this week while Iowa climbed to No. 3 and Minnesota dropped into No. 4. Washington held steady at No. 5 to round out the nation's "Big Five."

Missouri Takes Over

Missouri, coached by Dan Devine, was the fifth team to occupy the No. 1 berth during the weekly ratings this season. Previous tenants of the penthouse were Syracuse, Mississippi, Iowa, and Minnesota. Missouri takes over at the head of the homestretch, needing only a victory over Kansas this Saturday to complete a perfect season, win the Big Eight Conference title, and a berth in the Orange Bowl.

Last year Missouri compiled a 6-4 record and then lost to Georgia in the Orange Bowl. This year's Tigers, in Devine's third year at the helm, now are assured of their best season's record in 51 years.

Duke moved up from eighth to take sixth in this week's ratings and was followed by Navy, which moved from ninth to seventh. Arkansas dropped one notch to eighth and Ohio State, which was third last week but took a 55-12 drubbing from Iowa, fell all the way to ninth place. Auburn broke into the select circle at the No. 10 spot.

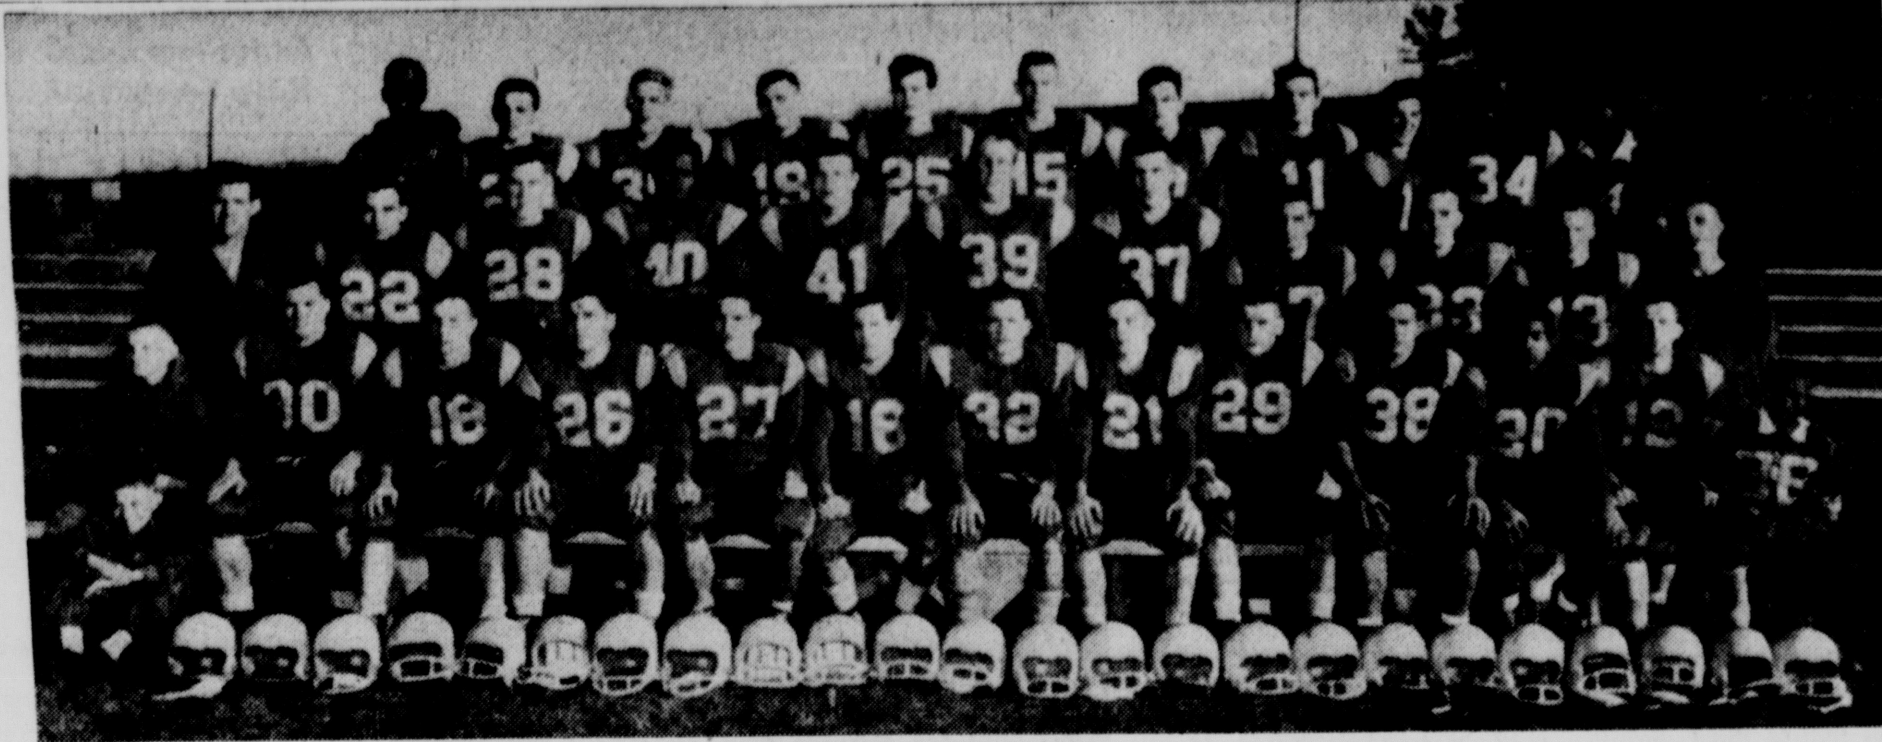

Heads "Second 10"

UCLA headed the "second 10" in the No. 11 berth, followed by Michigan State, Kansas, Rice, and Baylor. Utah State and Alabama were tied for 16th, Florida and Yale were tied for 18th, and Pittsburgh and New Mexico State were tied for 20th.

Twenty-two of the 35 famous coaches who comprise the UPI board by Missouri, five went to Mississippi, four to Iowa, two to Minnesota, and one each to Duke and Navy.

The board is composed of five coaches from each of the seven geographical sections of the country. Each week each of the coaches rates the top 10 teams in the country. Their ballots are compiled on a basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 points for votes from first place through 10th to arrive at a consensus.

There are two more weekly ratings to be issued this season. The final ratings for 1960 will be compiled after games of Nov. 26.

Roy Manges To Coach "Y" Quint

Drills Open Friday, 14 Games Planned

Roy Manges, newly appointed coach of the Central Y.M.C.A. varsity basketball team announces practice periods each week at the Central Y.M.C.A. gym on Fridays 7 to 8:30 p.m. beginning this week. Starting November 21, practice will also be held every Monday from 9 to 10 p.m.

Men over age 16 who wish to try out for the Y.M.C.A. varsity team should report to Coach Manges at the above times. The squad will be limited to twelve players. Only Y.M.C.A. members who play exclusively for the "Y" team will be eligible.

Games have been scheduled with Y.M.C.A. varsity teams from Washington, Baltimore, Frederick, Hagerstown, Chambersburg, Johnstown, and also the F.B.I. team of Washington, the Coast Guard of Curtis Bay, Dover Air Force Base of Delaware, Aberdeen Army, Ft. Ritchie Army, and the Maryland College All Stars. A total of fourteen games will be played, including ten in Cumberland. The season opens December 3. The complete schedule will be announced November 27.

Wallace Dow, program secretary at the Y.M.C.A., is manager of the team and Lou Baker of the Y.M.C.A. board of directors is the committee chairman.

Fencing At Y.M.C.A.

Instruction for beginners and advanced students in fencing will be given at the Central Y.M.C.A. starting November 22. Classes will be held each Tuesday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. to April 30. Men and women over age 16 are eligible. Glen Kuebler, former member of the fencing team at Case University, will be the instructor assisted by Ken Lucas, formerly with the Kansas State College team.

Competition is planned later in the year here in Cumberland and a representative team will go to Baltimore and Annapolis.

Weight-Lifting

Weightlifting instruction for men over age 16 is scheduled for Monday and Wednesday nights, from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. in the new Auxiliary Gym. Warren Miller, instructor, will also arrange for individual coaching by appointment. Participants are all to be Y.M.C.A. members.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

THE "WHIZZER" is back in the news, although his name now is being run on the front pages, not on the sports pages.

The "Whizzer" is Byron White, the one-time Colorado University dishwasher who carried a football to fame and fortune on the gridiron, then lugged it through Oxford University as a Rhodes scholar and now is being mentioned for a high cabinet post in Jack Kennedy's new administration.

We have an especial interest in the "Whizzer," for it was on our sports pages 23 years ago that his picture and feats were almost a daily occurrence as this great football player in the Rockies, then just drawing attention, piled up a record which rivaled those of Red Grange and other famous names on the grid.

As quarterback of the Colorado U. team, the Whizzer made area fans forget the great Dutch Clark. He made touchdown making look easy and it was his all-around brilliance even then that led friends and associates to predict that this young man would go places. And today, as a prominent attorney in Denver and a worker in the Kennedy campaign, the Whizzer may wind up in a key cabinet post. Or so say the political writers.

THEY SAY that one man can't make a team, but in the case of the Whizzer, you can forget that thought. He was a one-man gang if there ever was one and when the 1937 season had ended, he had led his team to an undefeated season, a Cotton Bowl engagement and had scored 16 touchdowns, kicked 23 extra points and booted one field goal while quarterbacking the Colorado U. squad.

A sure-shot All-American, too, was the Whizzer and he made just about everybody's team.

A Phi Beta Kappa off the field, the Whizzer was a wild man on the football stripes. He scored all 17 of his team's points against Utah. In the game with Colorado State the Whizzer played 20 minutes and scored 23 points. Against Colorado Mines he only played 12 minutes and scored 24 points, running 65 yards for a TD the first time he had the ball.

Against Missouri he piled up 175 yards rushing himself. Before the season was over, the Whizzer had turned in nearly 20 runs of 50 yards or better and even set a record by booting a punt 80 yards.

The Whizzer was a student of football and he practiced for hours kicking toward a red flag on the two-yard line and throwing footballs through a rubber tire.

Silber Changes Plea To Guilty

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—A former University of Florida student accused of conspiring to bribe a Florida football star Jon Macbeth to "fix" a college game changed his plea from innocent to guilty Monday afternoon, less than 24 hours before he and another man were to go on trial.

Judge John A. H. Murphree delayed sentencing of Philip Silber, 19, a former fraternity brother of Macbeth's, pending investigation. Silber and Aaron Wagman, 27, both of New York, are accused of offering a $15,000 bribe to the Florida fullback to shave points in the Florida - Florida State game of Sept. 24. Wagman's trial on bribery charges will start Tuesday with selection of a jury.

Recent surveys indicate that approximately 82 per cent of American consumers prefer white bread to all other kinds.

Bearcat Gridders Ask Retention Of Coach Blackburn

CINCINNATI (AP)—University of Cincinnati football players made an earnest, but apparently futile, effort Monday to restore head Coach George Blackburn to the job he quit last week.

Fifty-nine varsity and 35 freshmen players signed a letter addressed to President Walter C. Langsam and the athletic committee, that they get Blackburn to reconsider his resignation, which becomes effective Dec. 1.

The proposal, however, met with cool reception from UC Athletic Director George Smith and Vice President Ralph C. Bursiek, head of the athletic committee which will recommend a new coach.

Blackburn's contract had another year to run when he resigned. His team has won four games and lost five this season.

Krug Boots Terps To 5-0 Triumph

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Cliff Krug scored four goals Monday as the University of Maryland defeated North Carolina 5-0 in an Atlantic Coast Conference soccer game.

The victory gave the Terps their eighth straight ACC soccer championship and strengthened their bid for a spot in the NCAA tournament.

Maryland has never lost a conference soccer game, winning 30 and tying one.

Krug set an ACC scoring record in the game. He now has 21 goals for the season with two games remaining. The old record of 19 was set by Orest Prockiv of Virginia in 1958.

Brandy Sea Cops Feature At Pimlico

Winner Was Bred On Colwill Farm

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 14 (AP)—Carolyn K. Stable's Brandy Sea, a fleet 2-year-old, and Jockey Bill Hartack teamed up in the $7,500-added Pimlico Breeders' Stakes here at Pimlico today and was backed down to $3.40 for $2 before gaining a narrow victory.

Under the whip and doing his best, Brandy Sea won by only a head from Mrs. Charles R. Lewis' Hunter's Rock, who was three lengths to the fore of Leon DeLeon's Tuscan Spy.

Slightly more than 10,000 fans turned out to greet the return of the thoroughbreds to old Pimlico and to inspect the new $1,500,000 clubhouse.

Bill Hartack, riding his second winner, seemed to have trouble getting Brandy Sea into his best stride in the opening furlongs, but came between the early leaders to grab command on the final turn. He went out the mile and a sixteenth in 1:47 1/5.

Bred and raised at the Halcyn Farm of Fred Colwill, Brandy Sea is the result of a mating of Double Brandy and Cruel Sea and gained his first stakes victory at Laurel when he won a division of the Maryland Futurity.

Orioles And Dodgers Play At Cooperstown

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles and Los Angeles Dodgers were named Monday to play in the 1961 Hall of Fame baseball game on Monday, July 24.

It will be the 20th renewal of the exhibition game.

The Dodgers appeared in the 1943 and 1951 games when they were located in Brooklyn. The Orioles, who replaced the St. Louis Browns in the American League in 1954, will be making their debut.

Six Deer Slain By Bow Hunters

Bow hunters killed six deer in 500 or more deer are slain annually by gunners.

Allegany county during the 11-day season which ended last Saturday, according to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

The only successful Allegany county archer was David Whittington, of Route 5, Cumberland, who bagged a two-point 70 pound buck on Dan's Mountain.

Accept Bowl Bid

Others who killed deer were from counties outside of Region No. 1 which embraces Garrett, Allegany and Washington. Cedar Falls, Iowa (UPI)—Iowa State Teachers College Monday accepted a bid to play in the Mineral Bowl Nov. 26 at Excelsior killed in Washington county and Springs, Mo., college President J. W. Maucker announced.

Brandy Sea Cops Feature At Pimlico

Winner Was Bred On Colwill Farm

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 14 (AP)—Carolyn K. Stable's Brandy Sea, a fleet 2-year-old, and Jockey Bill Hartack teamed up in the $7,500-added Pimlico Breeders' Stakes here at Pimlico today and was backed down to $3.40 for $2 before gaining a narrow victory.

Under the whip and doing his best, Brandy Sea won by only a head from Mrs. Charles R. Lewis' Hunter's Rock, who was three lengths to the fore of Leon DeLeon's Tuscan Spy.

Slightly more than 10,000 fans turned out to greet the return of the thoroughbreds to old Pimlico and to inspect the new $1,500,000 clubhouse.

Bill Hartack, riding his second winner, seemed to have trouble getting Brandy Sea into his best stride in the opening furlongs, but came between the early leaders to grab command on the final turn. He went out the mile and a sixteenth in 1:47 1/5.

Bred and raised at the Halcyon Farm of Fred Colwill, Brandy Sea is the result of a mating of Double Brandy and Cruel Sea and gained his first stakes victory at Laurel when he won a division of the Maryland Futurity.

Orioles And Dodgers Play At Cooperstown

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles and Los Angeles Dodgers were named Monday to play in the 1961 Hall of Fame baseball game on Monday, July 24.

It will be the 20th renewal of the exhibition game.

The Dodgers appeared in the 1943 and 1951 games when they were located in Brooklyn. The Orioles, who replaced the St. Louis Browns in the American League in 1954, will be making their debut.

Six Deer Slain By Bow Hunters

Bow hunters killed six deer in Allegany county during the 11-day season which ended last Saturday, according to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

The only successful Allegany county archer was David Whittington, of Route 5, Cumberland, who bagged a two-point 70 pound buck on Dan's Mountain.

Others who killed deer were from counties outside of Region No. 1 which embraces Garrett, Allegany and Washington.

Seven whitetails were reported killed in Washington county and Springs, Mo., college President J. W. Maucker announced.

Kress To Manage Des Moines Team

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies Monday announced the assignment of Charley Kress as manager of the Des Moines team of the Three-I League, succeeding Andy Seminick.

Seminick, a member of the "Whiz Kids" championship team in 1950, will take another job in the Phils' system.

Kress, former Cincinnati Reds and Chicago White Sox infielder, managed Asheville of the South Atlantic League last season. The Phils have dropped their association with Asheville.

Kress managed Des Moines in 1959 and piloted them to the Three-I second half championship.

Lowe Is Victor In IC4A Cross Country Event

Penn State Takes Team Championship

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bobby Lowe, 22-year-old married senior from Brown, won the IC 4-A cross-country championship over the five-mile course at Van Cortlandt Park Monday.

Lowe, a sociology major, led Larry Sweet of Alfred home by 60 yards in 25 minutes, 40.4 seconds. Third place went to Gerald Young of Michigan State; fourth to William Bachrach, a Yale senior; and fifth to Billy Reynolds of Michigan State.

Yale, a not too frequent player among the top 10 in the event, came through with a sixth in Bobby Mack, seventh went to Army's Lynn Bender, and three Penn State runners — Herman Weber, Gerald Norman, last year's freshman winner, and Steve Moorhead — rounded out the top 10.

The Nittany Lions won the team championship, breaking Michigan State's four-year hold with a low point total of 70 points. Army was second with 119.

North Carolina Cross-Country Team Triumphs

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — North Carolina runners took four of the first six places and led the Tar Heels to the Atlantic Coast Conference cross-country title Monday.

North Carolina scored 25 points to beat Maryland's 38 and capture its third ACC title in five years. The defending champion, Duke, finished third in team points with 61.

Grover Everett and Gerald Stuver of North Carolina led the field of 54 runners and ran the 3.8-mile course in 17:53 and 18:06 respectively.

Third place went to John Gerten of Maryland with an 18:11 time and Michael Folk of North Carolina was fourth in 18:32.

The team scoring: North Carolina 25, Maryland 38, Duke 61, North Carolina State 120, Virginia 144, Clemson, South Carolina and Wake Forest did not qualify for team scores.

Ruth's Wins Three

Ruth's Tavern won three games from the Frostburg Eagles last night in an Allegheny County Women's Shuffleboard League match. Gilda Dyche's 27 was high score for the winners while Goldie Walker paced the Eagles with 15 tallies.

Harvey's TD, Extra Point Knot Score In Final Minute

Mike Harvey scored a touchdown and extra point in the last minute of play to give Allegany High School's Jayvees a 19-19 tie with the Fort Hill High School junior varsity in their annual football game yesterday at Fort Hill Stadium before a large crowd.

Fort Hill, undefeated and tied once in 23 games since late in the 1957 season, had won 12 consecutive games prior to yesterday's deadlock and had shut out Campbell teams three years in a row.

It was the fourth tie game played by Allegany this season. Coach Bob Hutcheson's Little Campers have won four and lost one. The defeat came at the hands of Northern High varsity.

Allegany trailed 12-0 midway in the third period when it reached paydirt for the first time on a 65-yard touchdown gallop by Dick Van Horn.

Shortly after the final period got under way the Campers knotted the count at 12-12 when Shank sneaked over from the one.

Fort Hill, however, regained the lead when Roy Collins scored from 20 yards out on an off-tackle thrust and Proudfoot's pass to Williams for the extra point made it 19-12.

Harvey's TD, Extra Point Knot Score — Allegany's Harvey took a hand-off and scored from the two and with 43 seconds remaining Mike just made it on a plunge for the point to tie up the game.

Fort Hill's initial score was registered in the second period on a 27-yard dash by Rich Robinson. A clipping penalty nullified another Sentinel td after Robinson ran 35 yards. A 65-yard run up the middle by Colin Smith gave Coach John Frank's team a 12-0 advantage early in the third stanza.

HOOKS LARGE BASS—A prominent race horse owner of past years made one of the prize catches of the fishing season yesterday when Mrs. Mary Knieriem, 502 Franklin Street, hooked a 20 inch bass that weighed 4 1/2 pounds while angling at the Battle Mixon Fishing Hole near Oldtown. She was accompanied by her husband, Gus Knieriem, and Mr. and Mrs. James Biller. Mrs. Knieriem, shown above with the large bass, will be remembered as the owner of such good dusty thoroughbreds as Red Wrack, Lena Girl, Blind Talk, Big Sneezee, Dusty Moments, Yazoo and Alesbury. After Yazoo perished in a stable fire at Charles Town, W. Va., six years ago, Mrs. Knieriem quit the horse racing business with which she was associated for 20 years.

City Basketball League To Meet

The City Basketball League will hold its first organizational meeting today at 8 p. m. in the City Hall.

League operation for this season will be the main topic of discussion. Two newly organized teams have expressed interest in obtaining the franchise of any team which may drop out this year.

Last year, six teams, Old Germans, Exports, 40 and 8, Moose, Liberty Trust, and Roseland participated in the league. The league again expects to operate with six teams.

Teams interested in entering this season are urged to send a representative to the meeting.

The Old Germans won the first half, the Old Exports' copped the second half and the Old Exports took playoff honors in a three-game series.

Unitas Says Bears Clean Despite His Banging Up

His Face Mask Or Helmet Could Have Caused Cuts

BALTIMORE (UPI) — "This was the toughest football game I ever played!"

That's the way stellar quarterback John Unitas summed up the Baltimore Colts' dramatic 24-20 victory over the Chicago Bears Sunday, a game professional football fans are still buzzing about.

A real cliff-hanger, the Colts turned apparent defeat into victory when Unitas hit halfback Lenny Moore with a 39-yard touchdown pass in the closing seconds of the game on a fourth down and 14 yards to go situation.

The win allowed the Colts to remain atop the Western Conference with a 6-2 record and re-meet the Forty-Niners in San Francisco, one of four games left on to win an unprecedented third to play straight NFL championship.

Unitas, reviewing the win, proved a master of understatement in saying: "I guess we shaved it pretty close."

Praises Teammates

"But it proved to me again," he continued, "that if a team wants to hang in there together and pull as a unit all the way nothing is impossible."

Rifle-armed John, who passed the Colts to their two previous NFL titles, took a fierce physical pounding in the game and was bleeding from both the mouth and nose when he left the field. But he had praise for his opponents.

"The Bears banged me up pretty good, but they were clean," he said. "On the play when I got my nose and lip cut I don't know what happened. Somebody said my helmet was twisted on my head and either the edge of the headgear or the face mask cut me."

"...after the game, Doug Atkins said he was sorry I got hurt but I told him it was a clean hit."

In addition to Unitas, both full-back Alan Ameche and end Ray Berry found the Bears tough competitors. Ameche was badly shaken up on a first quarter touchdown. Berry's shoulder was bruised in the same period. But neither injury was serious and the champions have almost two weeks to rest up before they meet the Forty-Niners in San Francisco.

"We need the rest," said coach Weeb Ewbank.

"I guess we shaved it pretty close."

Harvey's TD, Extra Point Knot Score In Final Minute

Mike Harvey scored a touchdown and extra point in the last minute of play to give Allegany High School's Jayvees a 19-19 tie with the Fort Hill High School junior varsity in their annual football game yesterday at Fort Hill Stadium before a large crowd.

Fort Hill, undefeated and tied once in 23 games since late in the 1957 season, had won 12 consecutive games prior to yesterday's deadlock and had shut out Campbell teams three years in a row.

It was the fourth tie game played by Allegany this season. Coach Bob Hutcheson's Little Campers have won four and lost one. The defeat came at the hands of Northern High varsity.

Allegany trailed 12-0 midway in the third period when it reached paydirt for the first time on a 65-yard touchdown gallop by Dick Van Horn.

Shortly after the final period got under way the Campers knotted the count at 12-12 when Shank sneaked over from the one.

Fort Hill, however, regained the lead when Roy Collins scored from 20 yards out on an off-tackle thrust and Proudfoot's pass to Williams for the extra point made it 19-12.

Allegany's Harvey took a hand-off and scored from the two and with 43 seconds remaining Mike just made it on a plunge for the point to tie up the game.

Fort Hill's initial score was registered in the second period on a 27-yard dash by Rich Robinson. A clipping penalty nullified another Sentinel td after Robinson ran 55 yards. A 65-yard run up the middle by Colin Smith gave Coach John Frank's team a 12-0 advantage early in the third stanza.

HOOKS LARGE BASS—A prominent race horse owner of past years made one of the prize catches of the fishing season yesterday when Mrs. Mary Knieriem, 502 Franklin Street, hooked a 20 inch bass that weighed 4 1/2 pounds while angling at the Battle Mixon Fishing Hole near Oldtown. She was accompanied by her husband, Gus Knieriem, and Mr. and Mrs. James Biller. Mrs. Knieriem, shown above with the large bass, will be remembered as the owner of such good thoroughbreds as Red Wrack, Lena Girl, Blind Talk, Big Sneez, Dusty Moments, Yazoo and Alesbury. After Yazoo perished in a stable fire at Charles Town, W. Va., six years ago, Mrs. Knieriem quit the horse racing business with which she was associated for 20 years.

City Basketball League To Meet

The City Basketball League will hold its first organizational meeting today at 8 p. m. in the City Hall.

League operation for this season will be the main topic of discussion. Two newly organized teams have expressed interest in obtaining the franchise of any team which may drop out this year. Last year, six teams, Old Germans, Exports, 40 and 8, Moose, Liberty Trust, and Roseland participated in the league. The league again expects to operate with six teams.

Teams interested in entering this season are urged to send a representative to the meeting. The Old Germans won the first half, the Old Exports' copped the second half and the Old Exports took playoff honors in a three-game series.

Unitas Says Bears Clean Despite His Banging Up

His Face Mask Or Helmet Could Have Caused Cuts

BALTIMORE (UPI) — "This was the toughest football game I ever played!"

That's the way stellar quarterback John Unitas summed up the Baltimore Colts' dramatic 24-20 victory over the Chicago Bears Sunday, a game professional football fans are still buzzing about.

A real cliff-hanger, the Colts turned apparent defeat into victory when Unitas hit halfback Lenny Moore with a 39-yard touchdown pass in the closing seconds of the game on a fourth down and 14 yards to go situation.

The win allowed the Colts to remain atop the Western Conference with a 6-2 record and rekindled the club's hopes of going on to win an unprecedented third straight NFL championship.

Unitas, reviewing the win, proved a master of understatement in saying: "I guess we shaved it pretty close."

Praises Teammates
"But it proved to me again," he continued, "that if a team wants to hang in there together and pull as a unit all the way nothing is impossible."

Rifle-armed John, who passed the Colts to their two previous NFL titles, took a fierce physical pounding in the game and was bleeding from both the mouth and nose when he left the field. But he had praise for his opponents.

"The Bears banged me up pretty good, but they were clean," he said. "On the play when I got my nose and lip cut I don't know what happened. Somebody said my helmet was twisted on my head and either the edge of the headgear or the face mask cut me."

"...after the game, Doug Atkins said he was sorry I got hurt but I told him it was a clean hit."

In addition to Unitas, both full-back Alan Ameche and end Ray Berry found the Bears tough competitors. Ameche was badly shaken up on a first quarter touchdown. Berry's shoulder was bruised in the same period. But neither injury was serious and the champions have almost two weeks to rest up before they meet the Forty-Niners in San Francisco, one of four games left to play.

"We need the rest," said coach Weeb Ewbank.

Stock Market Cools Off In Dull, Irregular Session

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks drifted to a yawning conclusion Monday after accomplishing all the selling during the first two hours.

Most groups were down although a little selective interest was displayed here and there. The general tone was subdued, however, with the market decidedly cooled off from the frantic, election-stimulated pace of last week.

A total of 1,210 issues were traded of which 432 advanced, 368 declined and 190 held unchanged. New highs outnumbered new lows by 17 to 10.

There was nothing in the news to stimulate any buying. Another static weekly steel report kept that section down as much as 1% in U.S. Steel. DuPont lost 2% in the chemicals where Union Carbide dipped 2% and motors lost as much as 1% in Ford.

Some selective buying came into the electronics as IBM climbed 6%, Beckman 1% and Emerson Electric 1% but most others were down.

American Home Products picked up 1% in a mixed drug section. Other issues standing out on the upside were Kellogg 2%, General Foods 1%, James Talcott 2%, Hershey 3%, Chain Belt 3% and Revlon 1%, and Procter & Gamble a point.

CHICAGO (UPI) — General selling and liquidation tumbled grain futures sharply Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.
All corn and oats and most rice contracts reached new lows for the season. At the final bid, wheat was off 1 1/2 to 3 1/2; corn off 1 1/2 to 2 1/2; oats off 1 1/2 to 2 1/2; rice off 1 1/2 to 2 1/2.
The market opened slowly on scattered selling. Stop loss orders and heavy hedge sales in corn and oats soon carried many futures more than 2 cents lower.
Wheat declined despite small commercial support. Longs led the selling. Exporters and mills bought wheat, and a large export trade was believed pending. The United Kingdom bought 735,000 bushels of hard red winter wheat. The U.S. government bought 250,000 bushels of hard red winter wheat for domestic relief and asked offers on 732,000 bushels for foreign distribution.
Longs, elevators and northeast brokers sold corn. Buying came from shorts, locals and export houses. Heavy receipts burdened the cash market, and sales were reported at 7 cents below December. Pressure on corn spilled over into oats. Liquidation was heavy. Shorts gave the best support.
In rice, new lots in the Winnipeg market added to the local downturn. Buying was scattered.
Liquidation was not heavy in soybeans, but lack of demand served to weaken prices. Meals and oils were also lower. Some cash buyers bought early in the morning. Drummed lards also declined sharply with lower oil and hog prices. Outside markets were lower.

Card Of Thanks

The family of the late Wilbur C. Garland wishes to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to all their friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to them during their recent bereavement. The family also wishes to thank the pallbearers, those who sent flowers, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral and the Rev. Jacob Snyder and to all others who in any way rendered assistance that are indeed grateful.

MRS. WILBUR C. GARLAND AND DAUGHTERS

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved son and brother, James T. Buckalew, who would have been 11 years old Nov. 15 today is his birthday. Jimmy, dear, was silent in the way we loved to hear. He was your face we loved so much. He was your hands we loved to touch. So often we look at your picture, smiling. And you seem to say: Don't grieve, I'm only sleeping. I'll see you all some day.

MRS. WILBUR C. GARLAND
BROTHERS AND SISTERS

AT THE RACE TRACKS

Relief Sought On Traffic Problem
Sixty-one Western Maryland Railway employees petitioned the Mayor and Council yesterday to seek a solution to traffic congestion on Greene Street at the George Washington bridge from Ridgeley.

The petition stated it was felt if an officer is stationed there the bottlenecks would be eliminated.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming said there is a serious problem there at peak periods and pointed out personal experience where he had had to sit through two light changes before being able to move with traffic.

Nothing can be done about the light control system, he said, but added he would see what can be done about traffic congestion.

On another traffic matter, council referred to Fleming the bid of West-Mar Communications Company, this city, in the amount of $7,600 for overhead signal lights at George, Centre and Mechanic Street intersections with Baltimore Street.

Art Workshop Is Set Today

A Christmas art workshop will be sponsored today at Parkside School by the Allegany County Association for Childhood Education International, according to Theodore Foote, supervisor of art education in Allegany County schools, will conduct the workshop. Ralston said. The program will open with a dinner at 5 p.m., and the workshop is scheduled for from 6 to 9 p.m.

Passenger On Missing Plane Dies

Roger F. Bell Found In Pendleton County; Searchers Seek Pilot

One of the two men missing on a light-plane flight from Rose Valley, Md. to New Philadelphia, Ohio, was found dead yesterday in Pendleton County, W. Va.

State Police at Romney identified the man as Roger F. Bell, of Annapolis, passenger in an L17 Navion piloted by retired Air Force Colonel Nelson P. Jackson, 49, of Severa Park, much decorated World War II hero who is still missing.

Civil Air Patrol headquarters in Charleston said an Army plane had spotted what might be the wreckage of the missing craft on a mountain about seven miles from where Bell's badly-burned body was found.

Belt Is Found

Search parties entered the rugged mountain area Monday night.

A spokesman said he thought Bell may have lived through the crash and wandered away and died, or may have fallen out of the plane after it caught fire in flight. There was no parachute near the victim's body.

An Air Force spokesman at the Pentagon in Washington said Bell's body was found about nine miles east of the wreckage. His belt was found about midway between, indicating he may have walked away from the wreckage in search of help.

What was believed to be the wreckage of the plane was spotted on a ridge east of Spruce Knob, the highest peak in West Virginia about 30 miles southeast of Elkins.

Spruce Knob is 4,860 feet high in densely wooded territory which police at Elkins described as "about as rugged as you can find."

LT. Col. Arthur Robidoux of the Maryland CAP at Baltimore said planes from Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio were taking part in the search yesterday.

Is War Hero

The two men had taken off from Rose Valley near Washington, at 6:20 p. m. Sunday en route to New Philadelphia where they were scheduled to arrive at 9 p. m. At 11 p. m. the Washington Flight Service of the Federal Aviation Agency told Mrs. Jackson her husband was missing.

Their flight plan called for a route by way of Martinsburg, W. Va., and Pittsburgh, and was to have been closed with the Canton-Akron radio station.

Jackson, who is the father of three sons and two daughters, is the Washington representative of Joy Manufacturing Company and legal officer of the National Capital Wing of the CAP.

He graduated from West Point in 1933 and holds 19 war decorations.

Burlington Man Dies Of Gun Wound

A Burlington, W. Va., area man was found dead yesterday morning of a rifle wound, according to Mineral County, W. Va. authorities.

Charles Kesner of RFD 1, Burlington, was found in his garage about 8 a. m. by a neighbor. He was in his late 50s.

Mineral County authorities said Mr. Kesner died of a head wound from a high-powered rifle. The shooting was investigated by Miss Madalyn Bazzle, corner of Mineral County; Sheriff Walter Mott and Trooper Robert B. Noeche of the State Police.

Miss Bazzle said a coroner's inquest will be held Friday at 2 p. m. to determine the cause of death.

Surviving are his widow, Lelia (Cannon) Kesner; four daughters, Mrs. Hazel Rigglerman, RFD 1, Burlington; Mrs. Helen Evans, Romney, W. Va.; Mrs. Lornz Rawlings, Fullerton, Calif.; and Miss Beverly Kesner, at home; a son, Dale Kesner, RFD 1, Burlington; a sister, Ervin Kesner, Broadway, Va., and several sisters.

The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home in Keyser.

VFW Membership Rally Tonight

Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW, will hold its Early Bird membership rally today at 8 p. m. in the post home for members who have paid their 1961 dues, and for social members.

Those who have not paid their dues may do so at the rally, according to Vernon Crabbe, commander, who said fried chicken and refreshments will be served.

Official guests will include John H. Diehl, third district commander, and Harry J. Reiber, Department of Maryland deputy inspector. Guy Smith is chairman of the committee which includes Paul W. Moore, James H. Darling, James H. Thompson and Richard Holcum.

Pre-Legislative Meeting

Allegany County members of the General Assembly are shown as they began a series of public meetings to consider possible legislative proposals for the 1961 session. Shown here are (seated) Del. Fred B. Driscoll, Sen. Charles M. See, and (standing) Dels.

Thomas F. Conlon Jr., Estel C. Kelley, Noel Speir Cook and William Walsh. Del. Lester B. Reed was in Chicago to attend a convention of legislative leaders. Various subjects, including tax matters, were discussed.

School Situation In Piedmont Is 'Problem'

Elementary Plant Termed Obsolete

The Piedmont, W. Va., public school situation is "really a problem," according to two consultants of West Virginia University who made a visionary survey of school plant needs at the request of the Mineral County Board of Education.

Taking the broad view of county responsibility for providing equivalent opportunities to all children on an equitable basis — the 10-11-12 grades of the community school was admitted to a proposed reorganized senior high school in Keyser, said the consultants.

With only 117 in these upper three grades, Piedmont can hardly justify the cost of limitations of such a small school, they added.

The Piedmont Elementary School is really obsolete and "deplorably below the physical standards" of the local high school. If the senior high students went to Keyser, then the grade school children of Piedmont could, by adding four rooms to balance architecturally the previous extension, be accommodated in a modern building and constitute a superior nine-year school, the survey report said.

If the top three grades were taken to Keyser the space released would help care for a consolidation of grades one to nine in a single building with considerable saving in operational expense, they said.

In referring to the elementary school, the consultants point out that there are continuing physical risks in the constricted stairwell which is close to the furnace room and would in case of accident or carelessness prove to be a "combustible chimney."

The location of this building with almost no open space about it is in sharp contrast to the wholesome conditions in schools elsewhere in the city and over the county, the report said.

Thoughtful consideration should be given the possibility of closing the opening from the furnace room with masonry and opening a service door from outdoors. When soft coal is used, careless stoking can result in serious explosions. Abandonment and sale of this building offer the ultimate solution, the consultants wrote.

Continuing economy in operation would be achieved by consolidating all grades 1-9 in the expanded high school plant. If money cannot be found to enlarge the high school plant, part of the elementary school might continue to serve as a walk-in unit for children on that side of the B&O railroad.

On the basis of what appears to be happening, it might be expected that the present high school when enlarged could contain Bery as well. This would increase the enrollment in grades 1-6 by about 75.

St. John's Men To Meet Tonight

The men of St. John's Lutheran Church will hold their monthly meeting today at 7:30 p. m. in the adult social room.

The program will include a talk on "The Use of the Service Book as a Devotional Aid" by William Gilpin. Refreshments will be served following the meeting by Earl B. Robinette.

Fashion Show Slated

The Ridgeley Band Boosters Club will sponsor a jewelry fashion show on Thursday at 1 p. m. at the fire hall in that community. Mrs. Anna Lee Day is in charge of the show.

Bookmobile To Arrive February 1

Trustees Discuss Annex Improvement

The County Library Board of Trustees, at a meeting in the Court House last night, was informed that the county's new bookmobile will be delivered on or about February 1, Dr. Adam Baer, chairman, said.

The bookmobile had been expected this month, but the manufacturer reported there had been delays in engineering and designing, along with a production delay at the factory.

The board decided to proceed with plans for construction of a driveway and carport at the library annex on Washington Street to house and park the vehicle. A dumbwaiter will be installed at the annex to move books from the second floor. A loading platform next to the carport will facilitate the handling of thousands of books which will be moved in and out for the mobile unit.

John T. Mason, board member and county commissioner, was authorized by the trustees to obtain specifications and plans on this project so that bids can be asked and the work can be completed by the time the bookmobile arrives.

There also was discussion about the porch on the annex. Contractors who checked the porch said it is in bad condition and must be rebuilt or replaced in order to make it safe. One contractor suggested that the porch and porch roof be removed entirely, and a wide concrete stairway or steps be built to help modernize the entrance. Mr. Mason also was authorized to proceed with specifications and bids on this project.

The board discussed employment of a librarian assistant to catalogue books. Several thousand books have arrived for the county library, and an experienced catalogue is needed to do this work. This is a full-time position, requiring specialized training and a person with a college degree is preferred.

The board also discussed employment of a driver for the bookmobile. This person must have some library experience, or must have sufficient educational background to be trainable, must be a mature individual, a good driver, able to meet and deal with the public, and must have some organizational ability.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, county librarian, said she has several applications which are being screened for these positions, but neither the catalogue nor the bookmobile driver-librarian post has been filled.

The next meeting of the board will be held at the Court House at 7:30 p. m. December 12, Dr. Baer said.

WAC Recruiter Here Today

S. Sgt. Agathe Sanders will be here all day today to interview young women between the ages of 18 and 34 who are interested in a career in the Women's Army Corps.

M. Sgt. Virgil F. Smith, local recruiter, said Sgt. Sanders will be at the local Army recruiting station from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. Women interested in WAC commissions or enlistment may contact her.

High school graduates or young college women may arrange an appointment by calling PA 2-6600, or by going directly to the recruiting station, third floor, Post Office Building.

Police To Get New Radio Net By November 30

Progress Is Noted On Traffic Signals

Progress is being made toward the installation of the Police Department's new radio communications system and new traffic lights at the Dingle Circle and the Maryland Avenue-Williams Street intersection, Commissioner Philmore Fleming reported yesterday.

He said he has been told the new radio system will be completed by November 30.

The project will include the installation of a master station erected on Haystack Mountain and controlled from Police Headquarters.

Police Department vehicles, including cruisers and scooters, will be equipped with 25-watt, two-way mobile radio units.

The modern radio system is being provided by the Wes-Mar company here on an $842.50 a month rental basis.

Progress was also reported on a $4,895 contract awarded to the same firm to repair and replace traffic controls and lights at the Dingle Circle and at the Williams Street-Maryland Avenue intersection.

Mr. Fleming said he was advised that the detector pad system which will control the lights will be installed by November 30 and that the new lights will be in operation by December 31.

The Wes-Mar firm yesterday submitted the sole bid of $7,680 for the installation of new overhead traffic signal lights on Baltimore Street.

The bid was referred to the Police Commissioner and the Engineering Department.

Youth Gets Year Term In Theft

Teen-Ager Also Given Sentence

A 20-year-old local youth and a local teen-ager boy yesterday received sentences in connection with the theft of several cases of beer from a parked tractor-trailer truck on October 16.

William H. Harmon Jr., 218 Columbia Street, was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction, and a teen-ager youth was ordered sent to the Maryland Training School for Boys.

Both youths were sentenced by Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin at a hearing conducted yesterday morning in Juvenile Court.

Two other teen-ager boys involved in the case also were guilty of being delinquent minors and were placed on probation for two years by Magistrate Fatkin.

The theft of the eight cases of beer from a truck owned by the Cumberland Brewing Company occurred last month and the four youths were arrested last week by city detectives.

Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason prosecuted the case for the state and Edwin M. Horcher, local attorney, represented Harmon. Attorney Gorman E. Getty Jr. represented one of the other minors involved in the case.

Piedmont To Get Grant Of $34,800

The Public Health Service announced yesterday in Washington that it has approved a $34,800 grant to help finance a $118,000 water pollution control project in Piedmont.

The federal funds will be used to help pay for the construction of interceptor sewers, regulators, pumping stations and force mains needed to carry sewage from the community to the waste treatment facilities operated in Luke by the Upper Potomac River Commission.

Five Proposals Are Presented To Legislators

Meeting Suggested On Interstate Plan

Five different legislative proposals were presented to State Senator Charles M. See and the members of the County Delegation in the House of Delegates at first of five pre-General Assembly conferences last night at the Court House.

Leaders of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, were the first to be heard and they discussed two proposals. John G. Thomas, president of Local 1874, first urged Senator See and the delegates to introduce a local bill which would exempt all union-owned property from the county real estate taxes.

The Allegany County legislators listened to Mr. Thomas' plea with sympathy.

Then the Local 1874 president switched to a second matter, the fact that U. S. Route 40 between Hancock and Washington, Pa., is not included in the Federal Interstate Highway system.

Delegate Fred B. Driscoll reminded Mr. Thomas that in both 1959 and 1960, resolutions urging the inclusion of this highway in the federal system had been adopted by both the House of Delegates and State Senate in Annapolis.

The difficulty, Mr. Driscoll pointed out, is that all of the 41,000 miles in the Federal Interstate System has been allocated and Western Maryland can expect no benefit until Congress increases the overall mileage above the 41,000 limit.

Senator See suggested it might be worthwhile for Governor J. Millard Taves to confer with President-elect John F. Kennedy on this matter.

Three representatives of the Western Maryland Chapter of Credit Unions appeared to urge Allegany County support on a state-wide bill expected to be introduced by the Baltimore City Delegation.

The spokesmen said that the Cuna Mutual Insurance Society of Madison, Wis., which issues life insurance on savings in credit unions, is not licensed to do business in Maryland.

Clyde O'Baker, representing the Kelco Credit Union, said Maryland is one of six states which does not license this company which deals in life insurance on savings in credit unions.

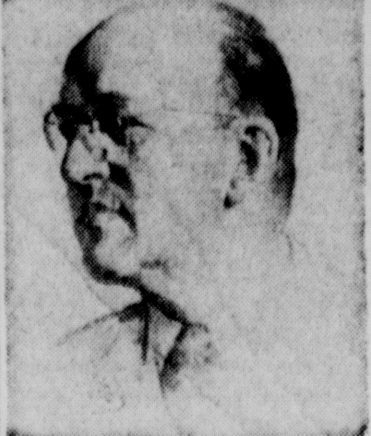

Credit unions obtained life insurance on individual deposits up to $2,000 which give to the beneficiary of the depositor an additional $2,000 or double the deposits. If the company were licensed in Maryland there would be an agent in Maryland and this state would derive some benefit, they asserted.

Other representatives besides Mr. O'Baker were Mrs. Joseph E. Boden, connected with the credit union of city, county and state employees, and Paul Mullan of the B&O Credit Union.

Two private individuals also were heard last night. The first was Robert H. Herbolzheimer, 638 Fairview Avenue, who formerly taught at Mt. Savage School. His argument concerned a set of record cards introduced into the Maryland public school system in 1957 by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools.

One section of this report form is for pupils who do not seem to be getting the maximum benefit from education. In such cases, the pupil's attitude and pattern of behavior are considered and data is compiled concerning the parents' personal, financial and marital relationships and general status.

STONEALL O'BRIEN

World Travel Film Features Switzerland

The second of the four globe travel programs to be presented by the YMCA's world service committee will be offered at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the Fellowship Hall of St. Luke's Lutheran Church.

Stoneall O'Brien, who presented a program here last year on Germany, will be the lecturer for the program tonight entitled "Switzerland and The Skiffl Swiss."

This film will show the costumes, customs, pageants and parades inspired by history, religious zeal or just the sheer joy of living. The viewer will go over the St. Gotthard Pass by 19th Century postal coach, by 20th century automobile and on foot.

Featured in the film will be Geneva, home of the Calvinist Reformation, the Red Cross, Rousseau and rose gardens. The Swiss Parliament will be observed in session.

Other films in the series are scheduled for showing on January 18 and February 16.

There has been an advance ticket sale on the series but interested persons may obtain tickets at the door tonight.

Francis D. Verdery is chairman of the YMCA world service committee. The vice chairmen are Dr. William R. Allen and Earl M. Nonnenmann.

Roundtables On Scouting Set Tonight

Nemacolin Trail District of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts will conduct roundtables on the Boy Scout and Cub Scout programs today at 7:30 p. m. at St. George Episcopal Church in Mt. Savage.

Walter Maxey, Nemacolin Trail assistant district commissioner, said the Boy Scout roundtable will cover themes for December and January.

The program also will include information on aviation, botany, chemistry, metal work, mechanical drawing, zoology, weather, geology, electronics, radio and personal fitness merit badges.

Information will be offered at the Boy Scout roundtable on how to celebrate Boy Scout Week and for parent activities during Boy Scout Week. A special feature of the roundtable will be on record keeping for a scout troop and the values and dangers of competition.

The roundtable will close with an indoor campfire program. Herbert Lehr, assistant district commissioner for Cub Scout roundtables, said the Cub Scout roundtable will cover the themes for December and January.

The program also will offer information on stunts, games and demonstrations of the viewscope, drums and maracas. A special feature will be the showing of a filmstrip, "Financing Your Pack."

The evening will be concluded with a question and answer period and refreshments.

Condemnation Jury Finally Agrees On $150

Although the property owners did not even bother to appear in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday, it still took a condemnation jury nearly two hours to agree on a $150 award to the property owners.

The State Roads Commission had filed the condemnation suit against George A. Martz and Margaret H. Martz, his wife, and the LaVale Sanitary Commission for some 100 square feet along U.S. Route 40 in Narrows Park. The SRC had deposited a check for $50 with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court, as a fair price for the land needed for the widening of Route 40.

Only two witnesses were heard by the jurors. They were Sterling Levy, a right of way agent for the SRC, and D. C. Goodfellow, local real estate man. Both estimated the value of the acquired land at $50. They said the property owners had demanded $20,000.

The LaVale Sanitary Commission was named a party to the action because it holds six mechanic's liens totaling $72 against the property.

Attorneys for the SRC yesterday were Peter J. Carpentieri and Clarence Dippel. Foreman of the jury of 10 men and two women was Leo Aman.

Union Will Meet

Local 568, Iron Workers Union, will meet Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Traffic Moves Over Route 36 Road Project

Martin Mountain Surfacing Delayed

The new stretch of modern highway built by the State Roads Commission on Route 36 between Corriganville and Barreilville has been opened to traffic, according to John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer.

The broad highway takes the place of what was considered one of the most treacherous stretches of road in Allegany County.

The 2.713-mile project is being completed by the S. T. Brote-markle Construction Company here under a $1,027,496 contract. The new stretch begins at the western end of the previously completed Route 36 at Corriganville and extends one-third of a mile past Barreilville.

Is 24-Foot Road

The new highway has a 24-foot bituminous concrete roadway with 12-foot shoulders. During construction, it was necessary to relocate Jennings Run for almost two-thirds of the way.

Work remaining on the contract will not interfere with the use of the road, and the contractor hopes to complete the final tasks before winter halts construction work.

Route 40 through LaVale will be opened over its full width by tonight.

The contracts provided for widening the existing road and the installation of storm water systems.

There is still some work to be done on the contracts which began at Park Avenue in LaVale and run to Maryland Route 53, but it will not interfere with the movement of traffic.

Surfacing Delayed

Mr. Bushby said the contractor for the Martin Mountain contract on Route 40 has reported with regret it will be impossible to have one lane of the new highway surfaced before winter sets in.

He said the S. J. Groves Company has been plagued by bad weather and three had slides which delayed the construction.

Traffic will be maintained all winter long, however, and the road will have a satisfactory surface since crusher run stone has been placed on the new sections.

Coroner Rules Marine Took His Own Life

Deputy Coroner E. J. Coger of Riverside County, Calif., has ruled definitely that Sgt. John B. Green, 23, formerly of Mt. Savage, died last Monday of self-inflicted head wounds, according to The Associated Press.

Mr. Coger said he and members of the sheriff's office of Riverside County and representatives of the Marine Corps investigated the death of Sgt. Green and there was no doubt that it was a suicide.

Cpl. Peter Pavlukevich, a buddy of Sgt. Green, had denied Saturday that Sgt. Green was the victim of a self-inflicted wound. Cpl. Pavlukevich accompanied the body of Sgt. Green to Mt. Savage, where services were conducted Sunday.

Mr. Coger also added Sgt. Green had left a note and had talked with his wife by phone shortly before shooting himself in the head with a .22 calibre pistol.

The body of the young marine was found November 7 at the home of a friend at 29 Palms, Calif., where he had been stationed.

William Porter Dies Suddenly

William DeWarren Porter, 71, who formerly operated a restaurant in Cumberland, was pronounced dead on arrival yesterday afternoon at Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Porter, who operated Porter's Restaurant on North Mechanic Street, was stricken at his home, 324 Pear Street, and was pronounced dead at the hospital at 4:30 p. m.

Mr. Porter at one time also operated a grocery store on Columbia Avenue, and retired in 1950.

A native of Eckhart, Mr. Porter was a son of the late Josiah and Helen (Wonn) Porter. He was a 50-year member of Cumberland Aerie 245, FO Eagles.

Surviving are his widow, Annie Catherine (Williams) Porter, and two sisters, Mrs. William Ricker and Miss Cora Porter, both of this city.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home.

Passenger On Missing Plane Dies

Roger F. Bell Found In Pendleton County; Searchers Seek Pilot

One of the two men missing on a light-plane flight from Rose Valley, Md. to New Philadelphia, Ohio, was found dead yesterday alongside U. S. 33 near Riverton in Pendleton County, W. Va.

State Police at Romney identified the man as Roger F. Bell, of Annapolis, passenger in an L17 Navion piloted by retired Air Force Colonel Nelson P. Jackson, 49, of Severa Park, much decorated World War II hero who is still missing.

Civil Air Patrol headquarters in Charleston said an Army plane had spotted what might be the wreckage of the missing craft on a mountain about seven miles from where Bell's badly-burned body was found.

Belt Is Found

Search parties entered the rugged mountain area Monday night. A spokesman said he thought Bell may have lived through the crash and wandered away and died, or may have fallen out of the plane after it caught fire in flight. There was no parachute near the victim's body.

An Air Force spokesman at the Pentagon in Washington said Bell's body was found about nine miles east of the wreckage. His belt was found about midway between, indicating he may have walked away from the wreckage in search of help.

What was believed to be the wreckage of the plane was spotted on a ridge east of Spruce Knob, the highest peak in West Virginia about 30 miles southeast of Elkins. Spruce Knob is 4,860 feet high in densely wooded territory which police at Elkins described as "about as rugged as you can find."

Lt. Col. Arthur Rohidoux of the Maryland CAP at Baltimore said planes from Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio were taking part in the search yesterday.

Is War Hero

The two men had taken off from Rose Valley near Washington, at 6:20 p. m. Sunday en route to New Philadelphia where they were scheduled to arrive at 9 p. m. At 11 p. m. the Washington Flight Service of the Federal Aviation Agency told Mrs. Jackson her husband was missing.

Their flight plan called for a route by way of Martinsburg, W. Va., and Pittsburgh, and was to have been closed with the Canton, Akron radio station.

Jackson, who is the father of three sons and two daughters, is the Washington representative of Joy Manufacturing Company and legal officer of the National Capital Wing of the CAP.

He graduated from West Point in 1933 and holds 19 war decorations.

Burlington Man Dies Of Gun Wound

A Burlington, W. Va., area man was found dead yesterday morning of a rifle wound, according to Mineral County, W. Va., authorities.

Charles Kesner of RFD 1, Burlington, was found in his garage about 8 a. m. by a neighbor. He was in his late 50s.

Mineral County authorities said Mr. Kesner died of a head wound from a high-powered rifle. The shooting was investigated by Miss Madalyn Bazzie, coroner of Mineral County; Sheriff Walter Mott and Trooper Robert B. Noechel of the State Police.

Miss Bazzie said a coroner's inquest will be held Friday at 2 p. m. to determine the cause of death.

Surviving are his widow, Lela (Cannon) Kesner; four daughters, Mrs. Hazel Rigglesman, RFD 1, Burlington; Mrs. Helen Evans, Romney, W. Va.; Mrs. Loretta Rawlings, Fullerton, Calif.; and Miss Beverly Kesner, at home; a son, Dale Kesner, RFD 1, Burlington; a sister, Ervin Kesner, Broadway, Va., and several sisters.

The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home in Keyser.

VFW Membership Rally Tonight

Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW, will hold its Early Bird membership rally today at 8 p. m. in the post home for members who have paid their 1961 dues, and for social members.

Those who have not paid their dues may do so at the rally, according to Vernon Crabie, commander, who said fried chicken and refreshments will be served.

Official guests will include John H. Diehl, third district commander, and Harry J. Reiber, Department of Maryland deputy inspector. Guy Smith is chairman of the committee which includes Paul W. Moore, James H. Darling, James H. Thompson and Richard Holkom.

Pre-Legislative Meeting

Allegany County members of the General Assembly are shown as they began a series of public meetings to consider possible legislative proposals for the 1961 session. Shown here are (seated) Del. Fred B. Driscoll, Sen. Charles M. See, and (standing) Dels.

Thomas F. Conlon Jr., Estel C. Kelley, Noel Speir Cook and William Walsh. Del. Lester B. Reed was in Chicago to attend a convention of legislative leaders. Various subjects, including tax matters, were discussed.

School Situation In Piedmont Is 'Problem'

Elementary Plant Termed Obsolete

The Piedmont, W. Va., public school situation is "really a problem," according to two consultants of West Virginia University who made a visionary survey of school plant needs at the request of the Mineral County Board of Education.

Taking the broad view of county responsibility for providing equivalent opportunities to all children on an equitable basis — the 10-11-12 grades of the community should be admitted to a proposed reorganized senior high school in Keyser, said the consultants.

With only 117 in these upper three grades, Piedmont can hardly justify the cost of limitations of such a small school, they added.

The Piedmont Elementary School is really obsolete and "deplorably below the physical standards" of the local high school. If the senior high students went to Keyser, then the grade school children of Piedmont could, by adding four rooms to balance architecturally the previous extension, be accommodated in a modern building and constitute a superior nine-year school, the survey report said.

If the top three grades were taken to Keyser the space released would help care for a consolidation of grades one to nine in a single building with considerable saving in operational expense, they said.

In referring to the elementary school, the consultants point out that there are continuing physical risks in the constricted stairwell which is close to the furnace room and would in case of accident or carelessness prove to be a "combustible chimney."

The location of this building with almost no open space about it is in sharp contrast to the wholesome conditions in schools elsewhere in the city and over the county, the report said.

Thoughtful consideration should be given the possibility of closing the opening from the furnace room with masonry and opening a service door from outdoors. When soft coal is used, careless stoking can result in serious explosions. Abandonment and sale of this building offer the ultimate solution, the consultants wrote.

Continuing economy in operation would be achieved by consolidating all grades 1-9 in the expanded high school plant. If money cannot be found to enlarge the high school plant, part of the elementary school might continue to serve as a walk-in unit for children on that side of the B&O railroad.

On the basis of what appears to be happening, it might be expected that the present high school when enlarged could contain Beryl as well. This would increase the enrollment in grades 1-6 by about 75.

St. John's Men To Meet Tonight

The men of St. John's Lutheran Church will hold their monthly meeting today at 7:30 p. m. in the adult social room.

The program will include a talk on "The Use of the Service Book as a Devotional Aid" by William Gilpin. Refreshments will be served following the meeting by Earl B. Robinette.

Fashion Show Slated

The Ridgeley Band Boosters Club will sponsor a jewelry fashion show on Thursday at 1 p. m. at the fire hall in that community. Mrs. Anna Lee Day is in charge of the show.

Bookmobile To Arrive February 1

Trustees Discuss Annex Improvement

The County Library Board of Trustees, at a meeting in the Court House last night, was informed that the county's new bookmobile will be delivered on or about February 1, Dr. Adam Baer, chairman, said.

The bookmobile had been expected this month, but the manufacturer reported there had been delays in engineering and designing, along with a production delay at the factory.

The board decided to proceed with plans for construction of a driveway and carport at the library annex on Washington Street to house and park the vehicle. A dumbwaiter will be installed at the annex to move books from the second floor. A loading platform next to the carport will facilitate the handling of thousands of books which will be moved in and out for the mobile unit.

John T. Mason, board member and county commissioner, was authorized by the trustees to obtain specifications and plans on this project so that bids can be asked and the work can be completed by the time the bookmobile arrives.

There also was discussion about the porch on the annex. Contractors who checked the porch said it is in bad condition and must be rebuilt or replaced in order to make it safe. One contractor suggested that the porch and porch roof be removed entirely, and a wide concrete stairway or steps be built to help modernize the entrance. Mr. Mason also was authorized to proceed with specifications and bids on this project.

The board discussed employment of a librarian assistant to catalogue books. Several thousand books have arrived for the county library, and an experienced cataloguer is needed to do this work. This is a full-time position, requiring specialized training and a person with a college degree is preferred.

The board also discussed employment of a driver for the bookmobile. This person must have some library experience, or must have sufficient educational background to be trainable, must be a mature individual, a good driver, able to meet and deal with the public, and must have some organizational ability.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, county librarian, said she has several applications which are being screened for these positions, but neither the cataloguer nor the bookmobile driver-librarian post has been filled.

The next meeting of the board will be held at the Court House at 7:30 p. m. December 12, Dr. Baer said.

WAC Recruiter Here Today

Sgt. Agathe Sanders will be here all day today to interview young women between the ages of 18 and 34 who are interested in a career in the Women's Army Corps.

M. Sgt. Virgil F. Smith, local recruiter, said Sgt. Sanders will be at the local Army recruiting station from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. Women interested in WAC commissions or enlistment may contact her.

High school graduates or young college women may arrange an appointment by calling PA 2-6900, or by going directly to the recruiting station, third floor, Post Office Building.

Police To Get New Radio Net By November 30

Progress Is Noted On Traffic Signals

Progress is being made toward the installation of the Police Department's new radio communications system and new traffic lights at the Dingle Circle and the Maryland Avenue-Williams Street intersection, Commissioner Philmore Fleming reported yesterday.

He said he has been told that the new radio system will be completed by November 30. The project will include the installation of a master station erected on Haystack Mountain and controlled from Police Headquarters.

Police Department vehicles, including cruisers and scooters will be equipped with 25-watt, two-way mobile radio units. The modern radio system is being provided by the Wes-Mar company here on an $842.50 a month rental basis.

Progress was also reported on a $4,895 contract awarded to the same firm to repair and replace traffic controls and lights at the Dingle Circle and at the Williams Street-Maryland Avenue intersection.

Mr. Fleming said he was advised that the detector pad system which will control the lights will be installed by November 30 and that the new lights will be in operation by December 31.

The Wes-Mar firm yesterday submitted the sole bid of $7,680 for the installation of new overhead traffic signal lights on Baltimore Street.

The bid was referred to the Police Commissioner and the Engineering Department.

Youth Gets Year Term In Theft

Teen-Ager Also Given Sentence

A 20-year-old local youth and a local teen-age boy yesterday received sentences in connection with the theft of several cases of beer from a parked tractor-trailer truck on October 16.

William H. Harmon Jr., 218 Columbia Street, was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction, and a teen-age youth was ordered sent to the Maryland Training School for Boys.

Both youths were sentenced by Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin at a hearing conducted yesterday morning in Juvenile Court.

Two other teen-age boys involved in the case also were guilty of being delinquent minors and were placed on probation for two years by Magistrate Fatkin.

The theft of the eight cases of beer from a truck owned by the Cumberland Brewing Company occurred last month and the four youths were arrested last week by city detectives.

Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason prosecuted the case for the state and Edwin M. Horcher, local attorney, represented Harmon. Attorney Gorman E. Getty Jr. represented one of the other minors involved in the case.

Piedmont To Get Grant Of $34,800

The Public Health Service announced yesterday in Washington that it has approved a $34,800 grant to help finance a $118,000 water pollution control project in Piedmont.

The federal funds will be used to help pay for the construction of interceptor sewers, regulators, pumping stations and force mains needed to carry sewage from the community to the waste treatment facilities operated in Luke by the Upper Potomac River Commission.

Five Proposals Are Presented To Legislators

Meeting Suggested On Interstate Plan

Five different legislative proposals were presented to State Senator Charles M. See and the members of the County Delegation in the House of Delegates at first of five pre-General Assembly conferences last night at the Court House.

Leaders of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, were the first to be heard and they discussed two proposals. John G. Thomas, president of Local 1874, first urged Senator See and the delegates to introduce a local bill which would exempt all union-owned property from the county real estate taxes.

The Allegany County legislators listened to Mr. Thomas' plea with sympathy.

Then the Local 1874 president switched to a second matter, the fact that U. S. Route 40 between Hancock and Washington, Pa., is not included in the Federal Interstate Highway system.

Explains Difficulty

Delegate Fred B. Driscoll reminded Mr. Thomas that in both 1959 and 1960, resolutions urging the inclusion of this highway in the federal system had been adopted by both the House of Delegates and State Senate in Annapolis.

The difficulty, Mr. Driscoll pointed out, is that all of the 41,000 miles in the Federal Interstate System has been allocated and Western Maryland can expect no benefit until Congress increases the overall mileage above the 41,000 limit.

Senator See suggested it might be worthwhile for Governor J. Millard Tawes to confer with President-elect John F. Kennedy on this matter.

Three representatives of the Western Maryland Chapter of Credit Unions appeared to urge Allegany County support on a state-wide bill expected to be introduced by the Baltimore City Delegation.

The spokesmen said that the Cuna Mutual Insurance Society of Madison, Wis., which issues life insurance on savings in credit unions, is not licensed to do business in Maryland.

Clyde O'Baker, representing the Kelco Credit Union, said Maryland is one of six states which does not license this company which deals in life insurance on savings in credit unions.

Credit unions obtained life insurance on individual deposits up to $2,000 which give to the beneficiary of the depositor an additional $2,000 or double the deposits. If the company were licensed in Maryland there would be an agent in Maryland and this state would derive some benefit, they asserted.

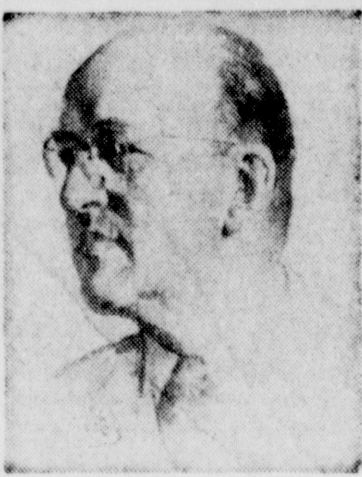

Other representatives besides Mr. O'Baker were Mrs. Joseph E. Boden, connected with the credit union of city, county and state employees, and Paul Mullan of the B&O Credit Union.

Others Heard

Two private individuals also were heard last night. The first was Robert H. Herboldsheimer, 638 Fairview Avenue, who formerly taught at Mt. Savage School. His argument concerned a set of record cards introduced into the Maryland public school system in 1957 by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools.

One section of this report form is for pupils who do not seem to be getting the maximum benefit from education. In such cases, the pupil's attitude and pattern of behavior are considered and data is compiled concerning the parents' personal, financial and marital relationships and general status.

STONEALL O'BRIEN

World Travel Film Features Switzerland

The second of the four globe travel programs to be presented by the YMCA's world service committee will be offered at 8:15 o'clock tonight at the Fellowship Hall of St. Luke's Lutheran Church.

Stoneall O'Brien, who presented a program here last year on Germany, will be the lecturer for the program tonight entitled "Switzerland and The Skilful Swiss."

This film will show the fountains, customs, pageants and parades inspired by history, religious zeal or just the sheer joy of living. The viewer will go over the St. Gotthard Pass by 19th Century postal coach, by 20th century automobile and on foot.

Featured in the film will be Geneva, home of the Calvinist Reformation, the Red Cross, Rousseau and rose gardens. The Swiss Parliament will be observed in session.

Other films in the series are scheduled for showing on January 18 and February 16.

There has been an advance ticket sale on the series but interested persons may obtain tickets at the door tonight.

Francis D. Verdery is chairman of the YMCA world service committee. The vice chairmen are Dr. William R. Allen and Earl M. Nonnenmann.

Roundtables On Scouting Set Tonight

Nemacolin Trail District of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts will conduct roundtables on the Boy Scout and Cub Scout programs today at 7:30 p. m. at St. George Episcopal Church in Mt. Savage.

Walter Maxey, Nemacolin Trail assistant district commissioner, said the Boy Scout roundtable will cover themes for December and January.

The program also will include information on aviation, botany, chemistry, metal work, mechanical drawing, zoology, weather, geology, electronics, radio and personal fitness merit badges.

Information will be offered at the Boy Scout roundtable on how to celebrate Boy Scout Week and for parent activities during Boy Scout Week. A special feature of the roundtable will be on record keeping for a scout troop and the values and dangers of competition.

The roundtable will close with an indoor campfire program. Herbert Lehr, assistant district commissioner for Cub Scout roundtables, said the cub roundtable will cover the themes for December and January.

The program also will offer information on stunts, games and demonstrations of the viewpoints, drums and maracas. A special feature will be the showing of a filmstrip, "Financing Your Pack."

The evening will be concluded with a question and answer period and refreshments.

Condemnation Jury Finally Agrees On $150

Although the property owners did not even bother to appear in Allegany County Circuit Court Circuit Court yesterday, it still took a condemnation jury nearly two hours to agree on a $150 award to the property owners.

The State Roads Commission had filed the condemnation suit against George A. Martz and Margaret H. Martz, his wife, and the LaVale Sanitary Commission for some 100 square feet along U.S. Route 40 in Narrows Fork. The SRC had deposited a check for $50 with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court, as a fair price for the land needed for the widening of Route 40.

Only two witnesses were heard by the jurors. They were Sterling Levy, a right of way agent for the SRC, and D. C. Goodfellow, local real estate man. Both estimated the value of the acquired land at $50. They said the property owners had demanded $20,000.

The LaVale Sanitary Commission was named a party to the action because it holds six mechanic's liens totaling $72 against the property.

Attorneys for the SRC yesterday were Peter J. Carpentini and Clarence Lippel. Foreman of the jury of 10 men and two women was Leo Aman.

Union Will Meet

Traffic Moves Over Route 36 Road Project

Martin Mountain Surfacing Delayed

The new stretch of modern highway built by the State Roads Commission on Route 36 between Corriganville and Barreilville has been opened to traffic, according to John D. Bushby, District 6 engineer.

The broad highway takes the place of what was considered one of the most treacherous stretches of road in Allegany County.

The 2.713-mile project is being completed by the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company here under a $1,027,496 contract.

The new stretch begins at the western end of the previously completed Route 36 at Corriganville and extends one-third of a mile past Barreilville.

Is 24-Foot Road

The new highway has a 24-foot bituminous concrete roadway with 12-foot shoulders. During construction, it was necessary to relocate Jennings Run for almost two-thirds of the way.

Work remaining on the contract will not interfere with the use of the road, and the contractor hopes to complete the final tasks before winter halts construction work.

Route 40 through LaVale will be opened over its full width by tonight.

The contracts provided for widening the existing road and the installation of storm water systems.

There is still some work to be done on the contracts which begin at Park Avenue in LaVale and run to Maryland Route 53, but it will not interfere with the movement of traffic.

Surfacing Delayed

Mr. Bushby said the contractor for the Martin Mountain contract on Route 40 has reported with regret it will be impossible to have one lane of the new highway surfaced before winter sets in.

He said the S. J. Groves Company has been plagued by bad weather and three bad slides which delayed the construction.

Traffic will be maintained all winter long, however, and the road will have a satisfactory surface since crusher run stone has been placed on the new sections.

Coroner Rules Marine Took His Own Life

Deputy Coroner E. J. Coger of Riverside County, Calif., has ruled definitely that Sgt. John B. Green, 23, formerly of Mt. Savage, died last Monday of self-inflicted head wounds, according to The Associated Press.

Mr. Coger said he and members of the sheriff's office of Riverside County and representatives of the Marine Corps investigated the death of Sgt. Green and there was no doubt that it was a suicide.

Cpl. Peter Pavlukevich, a buddy of Sgt. Green, had denied Saturday that Sgt. Green was the victim of a self-inflicted wound. Cpl. Pavlukevich accompanied the body of Sgt. Green to Mt. Savage, where services were conducted Sunday.

Mr. Coger also added Sgt. Green had left a note and had talked with his wife by phone shortly before shooting himself in the head with a .22 calibre pistol. The body of the young marine was found November 7 at the home of a friend at 29 Palms, Calif., where he had been stationed.

William Porter Dies Suddenly

William DeWarren Porter, 71, who formerly operated a restaurant in Cumberland, was pronounced dead on arrival yesterday afternoon at Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Porter, who operated Porter's Restaurant on North Mechanic Street, was stricken at his home, 324 Pear Street, and was pronounced dead at the hospital at 4:30 p. m.

Mr. Porter at one time also operated a grocery store on Columbia Avenue, and retired in 1950.

A native of Eckhart, Mr. Porter was a son of the late Josiah and Helen (Wonn) Porter. He was a 50-year member of Cumberland Aerie 245, FO Eagles.

Surviving are his widow, Annie Catherine (Williams) Porter, and two sisters, Mrs. William Ricker and Miss Cora Porter, both of this city.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home.
